THOS. F. DONNELLY
HELD IN $500 BONDS

For Grand Jury on Charge of Forgery in Connection With the Signatures to the Hospital Site Initiative Papers

The case of Thomas F. Donnelly, grand jury, charged with forgery in securing names on one of the initiative papers relative to the purchase of the Pillsbury estate site by the city for a contagious hospital, was called on continuance this morning.

Counsel for the defense waived hearing in this court and Donnelly was held for the next sitting of the grand jury in June for examination. His bail was fixed at $500.

It is said that Lawyer Howard, under whose direction Donnelly was brought into court was willing to settle the case by allowing the defendant to be given a suspended sentence. The court, however, found probable cause and held defendant in $500 for the grand jury.

Other Cases

Edward J. Blout pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness. He was released a few days ago by the probation officer.

Blout is a resident of Cheshamford and has only appeared in police court a few times. He was very penitent this morning and appeared grateful when Judge Wright gave him a week within which to pay his fine of $6.

John Rooney had only one arm. It was his third offence for drunkenness and he was sent to the state farm.

The assault and battery case of John and Manuel Cusano, charged with beating up Maximilian Franco, was continued until Saturday. Several witnesses were not reached in time for the trial today and the continuance was granted on petition of the prosecution.

Committee on Harbors Recommends $1,000,000 Appropriation if the Federal Government Gives Like Sum

The committee on harbors and public lands has reported a resolve in favor of $1,000,000 appropriation for the development of the Merrimack river from Lowell to the sea.

The appropriation is contingent upon a like amount being appropriated by congress.

The resolve providing for a state appropriation of one million dollars follows:

"Resolved, that there be allowed and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth a sum not exceeding one million dollars, to be expended by and under the direction of the board of harbor and land commissioners, for the improvement of navigation of the Merrimack river from the sea to Hunt's falls at Lowell by the construction of a channel therein; provided, that no part of said sum shall be available or expended until the congress of the United States shall approve a project and make an appropriation therefor to improve that part of said river from the sea to a point opposite Ward Hill, about one mile above Haverhill, so that a continuous channel will be provided throughout this part of the said river not less than 18 feet deep at mean low water and of adequate depth."

President Wilson Insists That Definite Answer Must be Given to Demand for Salute to Flag—Congress Ready to Vote War Measures

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States today moved the American war fleets on their way to force the Huerta government to salute the stars and stripes. Gen. Huerta discussed with members of the senate in Mexico City the demands of the United States for reparation for indignities at Vera Cruz and Tampico while at Washington President Wilson and his advisers await word from Charge O'Shaughnessy of affairs in the Mexican capital.

In this critical situation the constitutionalists who by their successive victories over the federal troops dominate northern Mexico, have as yet taken no part, but reports have reached Washington that during the next 24 hours Gen. Carranza and his cabinet would meet to decide what attitude should be assumed by them toward the despatch of the American fleets to Mexican waters and the relations between the Huerta government and the United States generally.

Washington representatives of the constitutionalists have telegraphed their leaders counseling a careful and cautious policy and suggesting that no pronouncement of any kind be interpolated into the situation. The constitutionalists here are emphatic in their expressions that they do not recognize Huerta's government or his right to conduct the international relations of the country and declare that so long as territory controlled by their forces is not invaded they will take no offensive action. On the other hand they realize that the international situation in Mexico would be gravely complicated if Huerta should regard American reprisals for the Tampico incident as sufficient provocation for war and call upon the people of Mexico to rally to the national defense. The constitutionalists, however, do not recognize as legally organized the senate in Mexico City to which Gen. Huerta has submitted the American demand and from whom he is understood to be seeking authorization to formally offer arbitration.

Huerta in Executive Session

Information as to just what Huerta discussed in his executive session with the Mexican senate yesterday was still lacking early today, but speculation was freely heard in official circles that he had decided to adopt an unyielding course.

The delicate position of Charge O'Shaughnessy and the possibility that he might be given his passport was frequently commented upon. Those familiar with Huerta's disposition professed the belief that he would flatly refuse to fire a salute and would attempt to carry his case before other foreign governments, disputing under international law the right of American bluejackets to be on shore anywhere in Mexico inasmuch as he had not renewed permission to American warships to remain in Mexican waters or grant the United States bluejackets and marines permission to land.

Since the United States does not recognize the legality of Huerta's government it has ignored his right to extend or refuse permission to American warships to stay in Mexican waters and has kept his men off there on the ground that a condition of anarchy in Mexico justified, under international practice, the continued presence of the vessels as a measure of protection for foreign residents.

Demand Definite Answer

It was evident today that while Huerta might seek to prolong and complicate the questions growing out of the incident at Tampico the American government would not brook dilatory tactics and would wait only until the Atlantic fleet arrived on Tampico before advancing its policy to a climax. President Wilson already had emphatically pointed out to Huerta through Charge O'Shaughnessy that while conciliatory methods and diplomatic correspondence might have been accepted in the past the time had come when a definite answer must be given to the demand for a salute to the American flag and reparation made for other repeated offenses to Americans in towns held by the federalists. Administration officials consider Huerta's suggestion of arbitration as an attempt to evade the main issue and do not regard as subjects for arbitration studied indignities against the American flag and the American uniform.

The position of the Washington government as described by high officials of the administration is one of unrelenting determination to compel accession in the American demand under penalty of the prompt use of the navy to seize custom houses at Tampico and Vera Cruz without customs receipts and declare a pacific blockade cutting off southern Mexico from commercial intercourse with the United States. Not alone the affront to the colors at Tampico must be atoned for, according to the determination of the Washington government, but satisfactory reparation will be sought for the recent arrest at Vera Cruz of an orderly from the fleet who was carrying mail as well as for a series of offenses which President Wilson believes have been directed exclusively at the United States while the men of other foreign vessels have been allowed to go about on Mexican soil without molestation. The house committee on foreign affairs was called to meet today, when Chairman Flood expected to explain in detail the situation as it was outlined to him yesterday by President Wilson. The president is fortified with ample precedents for the landing of marines, the occupation of custom houses and even the shelling of towns should the emergency arrive wherein quick action is desirable. If the situation grows even more complicated a message from President Wilson is confidently expected by leaders of congress before more extensive action of an aggressive character is undertaken.

The order for the Pacific fleet to proceed to Mexican waters follows so closely upon the despatch of the Atlantic fleet gave naval officers here plenty of possibilities upon which to speculate. Constitutionalists were interested to learn whether or not the Pacific fleet would concentrate at ports held by the federalists or at Topolobampo held by the rebels as well as Tampico, as well as most of the towns on the Pacific side, is not fortified and, according to the rules of civilized warfare, undefended towns would not be bombarded. It is generally believed that aside from the moral value of the despatch of so large a naval force to Mexican waters the chief purpose of it is to place there large forces of bluejackets and marines for expeditious movements in case of emergency.

BATTLESHIP LOUISIANA FINISHED COALING AND STARTED FOR TAMPICO

NORFOLK, Va., April 15.—The battleship Louisiana, under orders to go to Tampico, Mexico, finished coaling early yesterday and was ready to go to sea. The Louisiana arrived April 11, after a long tour of duty in Mexican waters. The purpose of the visit here was to give the men shore liberty after their long stay aboard ship and several hundred of them had scattered near and far when the sudden order for Mexican service reached the officers on Tuesday. With the aid of the newspaper notices and the telegraph, most of the men have been recalled.

your mills shut down this summer for another eight weeks, do you? The weavers at the present time are working under protest, against the grading system, and some of the manufacturers have started to shut the weavers out of the amount of $1 to $1.50. The average pay for the weavers in the city at the present time won't reach the sum of nine dollars per week all the year round. There are some of the prices that are being paid at the present time that the weavers have brought to this office, from a 40-inch loom.

Style 325, 128 pick, price $1.00 per cut, 62 to 64 yards per cut.
Style 324, 140 pick, price $1.00 per cut, 62 to 64 yards per cut.
Style 323, 150 pick, price .85 per cut, 61 yards per cut.
Style 322, 172 pick, price .75 per cut, 61 yards per cut.
Style 321, 175 pick, price $1.14 per cut, 61 yards per cut.
Style 320, 180 pick, price $1.00 per cut, 61 yards per cut.

The officials of this association wish to draw the attention to the fact that the better prices are being paid in some of the mills in this state for the same grades, and still the manufacturers here claim that they want skilled help. And still the manufacturers of our city will allow the weavers of the weaver room to be paid the same as the weavers in the city who are working in the weaver room. The answer is that if the weavers don't like the way that they are treated, to get out.

Another complaint that the weavers are bringing into the weaver's office is this, that the different book-keepers in the weaver rooms in the city are looking the weavers shy on cuts; therefore trimming the weavers' pay again out of the small amount of wages that they can earn in the mills at the present time.

Mr. Manufacturers, wake up, and take a little more interest in your help, and don't be selfish. The weavers at the present time are getting ready to take another vacation this summer, providing conditions don't change. The Weavers' union officials want all the weavers that are outside of the ranks to send in their names for membership before the next strike.

Years on behalf of the executive committee.

CORNERSTONE IN 1699

WORKMEN DIGGING UP FAMOUS HARVARD ELMS FIND CORNERSTONE OF STOUTEN HALL

BOSTON, April 16.—Workmen digging up the famous Harvard elms in Harvard yard yesterday unearthed a brick foundation containing a portion of the original cornerstone of Stouten Hall, erected in 1699, and torn down about 100 years ago.

The footing on the stone was still visible enough to make its identity certain. The original Stouten Hall which has since been replaced by another building in the yard bearing the same name, was built in 1699 by a former governor of the Massachusetts colony.

A Spanish coin bearing the arms of Charles III. of Spain, and dated 1776, was also found at the bottom of the roots of one of the big elms.

HAD GOOD TIME

Fine Entertainment by St. Joseph's College Alumni in School Hall

Despite the inclement weather, St. Joseph's college hall in Merrimack street was filled to its capacity last night, the occasion being the first entertainment given under the auspices of the alumni of the school. The affair was conducted for the benefit of St. Jean Baptiste church and the success was very flattering to both the performers and organizers. The program consisted of a four-act drama, "The Comptable," and a one-act comedy, "Apartment a Louer," as well as several musical numbers between the acts.

which were all pleasing.

Among those present were the pastor of the parish, Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. L., Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. L., Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. L., Rev. Charles Denigot, O. M. L., Rev. Antoine Amyot, O. M. L., Rev. Arthur Bernache, O. M. L., as well as several other brothers. Much credit for the artistic success of the affair is due Rev. Bro. Bernardin and his staff.

"The Comptable" deals with the high life led by a young man, Gustave Barthe, and he is seen in the company of young men who, like himself, leads a dissipated life. Despite the fact that he has to borrow the money to keep him going, Gustave rapidly piles up enormous debts and even in his work at the bank he proves inefficient. As a result of several serious errors he is discharged and within a few hours of his discharge he is caught in the act of committing a theft at the bank and in his rage, he kills the owner of the establishment. The young man returns to his home and after some time he confesses to his father, who supports him with sufficient money to leave the country. The play closes with the father saying his son is not the son he partly, but he, the father, is, in view of the fact that he has allowed his son to lead a free and unrestricted life.

The play is very interesting throughout and the parts were all well sustained. Those taking part were: W. P. Casse, Jr., Arthur Giroux, George Dierrier, George Ledoux, Arthur Lamoureux, Ernest J. Dupont, E. H. Desmarais, J. A. St. Julien, John B. Richard, Wilmer A. Brown, Rosine Gaultier, Antonio Borger, Achille Gaultier, Cyrien Desmarais, Paul Choquette, Victor Hamel, Albert Sparks, N. J. Vigeant, Ernest L'Heureux, E. J. Laroche and others.

The comedy, "Apartment a Louer," a 30-minute sketch, proved a very lively affair and was well received. The parts were sustained by E. J. Dupont, W. P. Casse, Arthur Lamoureux, W. A. Dragon, and J. A. St. Julien and E. J. Laroche. Between the acts comic songs were sung by E. S. Desmarais, while a comic duet was rendered by Messrs. Casse and Laroche. E. J. Dupont also rendered a musical selection. Bailey's orchestra supplied music during the evening.

THINK BRIDE MURDERED

CORONER'S JURY DISCREDITS SUICIDE IN NORWAY, ME. TRAGEDY FOUND DEAD WITH GUN

NORWAY, Me., April 16.—Instead of accepting a theory of suicide which was advanced, a coroner's jury last night reported that Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings, 17 years of age, a bride of only 11 months, met her death at the hands of an unknown person, Mrs. Cummings died from a gun shot wound at her father's house in Albany, near here, yesterday. When her mother, Mrs. William Adams, called neighbors to the house, saying that the young woman had committed suicide, they found the body on the floor of the sitting room with a shot-gun beside it. The gun was one which had been kept in the house.

Mrs. Adams said she believed that her daughter had become temporarily insane through dwelling on stories of a neighborhood suicide a year ago. Coroner Albert P. Bassett, impaneled a jury today and the results of the investigation of the circumstances surrounding the death were placed before it. After considering the case all day the jurors last night agreed that the young woman had come to her death "by a gunshot wound at the hands of some person unknown."

Neither the coroner nor the medical examiner would supplement this verdict with any explanation last night.

Mrs. Cummings was married in January, 1912, to Sherman Cummings of Grovelton, Vt. She had been living with her parents recently, but was preparing to rejoin her husband at Belhel.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Delightful Comedy Enjoyed by Large Audience at the Opera House Last Evening

"Oh, there's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

This quotation, the concluding line in the comedy, "Peg o' My Heart," which was given at the Opera House last evening, sent home a large audience with memories of one of the best shows of its kind ever given in this city. It also eloquently expressed the sentiment of the play.

"Peg o' My Heart" is a clean, merry little comedy of right living, with human touches and, while last night's company was not the original cast, all members played their respective roles satisfactorily, and their work was well appreciated by the present. It is a refreshing piece done up in an irresistible Irish wrapper.

"Peg," the leading character of the comedy, was played by Miss Marion Dentler. Her work was the feature of the evening and she captivated the audience from start to finish. She is an exceptionally clever woman and, though called upon to depict many various characters and scenes, she handled all with simplicity.

The role of "Jerry" or "Sir Gerald" requires a peculiar combination of characteristics and these are well supplied by Cecil Owen. He gave a perfect interpretation of the role.

"Alaric," another important role, was well portrayed by Harold Hendee. He's a real English lad, with true accent, and his acting was all that could be desired.

"Mrs. Chichester" was played by Florence Carrett. She made a dignified and clever mother and took good care of her part. "Ethel," her daughter, was finely acted by Crosby Little. "Jarvis," the butler, was the part assigned to John E. Trever, and he did it well.

"Montgomery Hawkes," played by Reginald Carrington, was good. "Christian Brent," the villain, was taken by L. C. Carroll, and "the maid" was portrayed by Violet Moore.

FAST DAY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., April 16.—For the first time, so far as available records show, the legally established holiday of fast day officially proclaimed by Gov. Samuel D. Feltner for today passes without recognition by any religious service in the state capital. The cessation of business is practically complete, but otherwise the day is without observance. Fast day usually marks the opening of the baseball season in New Hampshire, and both professional and school games had been scheduled for today but the grounds are covered with snow, making play impossible.

of intrigue and adventure in three reels, entitled "In the Hands of a Woman." This splendid offering will give you a glimpse of the unusual precautions taken by the government officials to safeguard diplomatic messages and papers of state. It will carry you through a maze of adventures in which a young French ambassador, bound on a secret diplomatic mission, is the hero. You will be astonished time and time again by the daring feats displayed by the principals in this powerful drama, because they are continually taking desperate chances in order to give life and action to their parts. "In the Hands of a Woman" as a feature production is far above the ordinary, and is in every respect a true Warner feature.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The tenacious of the big situation in "Flashlight Cragin" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, is destined to be the startling stillness which pervades the theatre as the big detective is forced to decide between love and duty. It is gripping and is splendidly done by C. H. O'Donnell and an able supporting company. Easily the second feature on the bill is "Wonders of the Air," as given by Miss Lettice, assisted by Jeanette. It is an act recently brought to this country from Paris, where it was rated as one of the best things of the kind ever seen. The two women, though almost 110 pounds in size, are regular human dynamos. Devine and Williams offer a very classy comedy-musical turn, and the four entertainers are quite singers and comedians. Knight and Moore in patter and music are entertaining all the time and Frank Markham, handout, is one of the best ever seen here. Lemme & Nick, comely acrobats, open the bill, and the Pathé Weekly closes it. Good seats may be secured in advance. Phone 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"The Man on the Box" which is being so capably presented this week by the Merrimack Square Theatre Players, is scoring one of the real successes of the season. The play itself is most commendable, while its presentation by Walter Scott Weeks, Miss Gladys Malvern and the other members of a most capable cast, is meritorious. On Saturday afternoon the players will hold a public reception on the stage and the public generally is invited to attend. Next week the play will be "Harold Son," a wonderfully interesting and wholesome story of the love of a boy for his mother. Tickets are now on sale for next week. Place your name on the subscription list and get reservations on your favorite seats. It costs no more.

THE OWL THEATRE
Today is the last chance to see the photographic reproductions of Sarah Bernhardt in "Camille" at the Owl. Mme. Gabrielle Regan in "Mme. Sans-Gene," a subtle comedy by Sardou, is the other special attraction engaged in connection with "Camille." These plays have been shown to crowded houses during the last three days, and yesterday a change of the regular program took place. For Friday and Saturday extra features have been booked, among them are "The Perils of Pauline," second installment, "The Mutual Girl" in her weekly adventure, the Pathé Weekly for the conversative element, and an uproarious Keystone comedy for the fun-lovers, besides the regular five-reel program. Haa it dawned on you yet that "it will be good" at the Owl, so "get wise."

Women from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from all sections of this great country, no city so large, no village so small but that some woman has written words of thanks for health restored by Lydia E. Is it not reasonable to believe that what it did for these women it will do for any sick woman?

Wonderful Case of Mrs. Stephenson, on the Pacific Coast.

INDEPENDENCE, OREGON.—"I was sick with what four doctors called Nervous Prostration, was treated by them for several years, would be better for a while than back in the old way again. I had palpitation of the heart very bad, fainting spells, and was so nervous that a spoon dropping to the floor would nearly kill me, could not lift the lightest weight without making me sick; in fact was about as sick and miserable as a person could be. I saw your medicines advertised and thought I would try them, and am so thankful I did for they helped me at once. I took about a dozen bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and also used the Sensitive Wash. Since then I have used them whenever I felt sick. Your remedies are the only doctor I employ. You are at liberty to publish this letter."—Mrs. W. STEPHENSON, Independence, Oregon.

A Grateful Atlantic Coast Woman.

HODEDOR, ME.—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, HODEDOR, ME.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, which contains no narcotics or harmful drugs; it has restored so many suffering women to health.

FAVORS REPEAL THE MINUTE MEN MEET

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Under Roosevelt Speaks

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Oscar S. Strauss, secretary of commerce and labor in the Roosevelt cabinet, advocated repealing the tariff exemption clause of the Panama canal act yesterday before the senate canal committee.

Then the committee, which has instituted hearings on the administration repeal bill to continue until April 21, adjourned because there was no other witness to be heard.

Favored Repeal

Mr. Strauss declared that the exemption clause should be repealed regardless of the attitude of Great Britain, and added that there should be no quibbling over the construction of the treaty on which the brightest members of the senate and house and the most prominent international lawyers are divided.

"Are we now to cast aside all our high purposes for a paltry sum of, at most, $2,000,000 annually, which in the last analysis will be largely taken from all our people and given to a monopolistic shipping trust?" he asked. "Are we to sacrifice our self-respect for the opinions of mankind for this miserable mess of pottage?"

Mr. Strauss declared that former President Roosevelt believed the exemption of coastwise shipping did not violate the Hay-Panama treaty, but thought the question should be submitted to arbitration.

The Witnesses Expected

Much uncertainty surrounds the future program of the committee. Russell Duns of San Francisco wants to submit some facts about shipping, is expected to testify today, and Dr. Ernest Richard of New York, president of the German-American Peace society may appear later in the day.

Seth Low, former mayor of New York, was to have spoken today but would not be able to come to Washington until next week. A committee from the New York chamber of commerce is to testify Friday, and several New Orleans men have asked to be heard next week.

Supporters of the president in the tariff fight commented yesterday on the fact that no representatives of Eastern shipping interests have appeared before the committee.

TWO OF CREW DROWNED

STRANGE SUBMERSION OF STEEL TUGBOAT BY BARGE SHE WAS TOWING

NEW YORK, April 15.—The strange submersion of the steel tugboat Arles by being dragged under by the barge she was towing caused the death by drowning of two of her crew yesterday. The tug was owned by Frank Chapman of New London, Conn., and was commanded by Captain George Hale.

The two men drowned were George Marshall, a fireman, of Stafford Springs, Conn., and Wallace Hodges, a deckhand, of New London. There were nine persons on the tug. The survivors were rescued by the opportune arrival of an ocean drifter.

The tug, with the barge Dequint in tow, was just swinging around the Great Neck light when the barge, which was on a short hawser, was struck by a sharp wind and veered to one side, dragging the tug under water. As the boat sank the boiler exploded. William Griswold of New London, chief engineer, was scalded about the back and legs.

TO VISIT THE CITIES

Automobile Squadron Will Make State-wide Tour Before the Big Suffrage Parade in Boston

An automobile squadron to visit most of the cities and towns of this state between now and May 2, the day of the big suffrage parade in Boston, is now being arranged for by the women suffrage leaders of the state.

The group of autos, which it is planned to have start from different sections of the state will be known as the "Invitation squadrons."

It will be the job of the women in these autos to carry the tidings to the people of the state that everybody who believes in human rights is invited to march in the big suffrage parade.

The invitation squadrons will be in charge of Miss Margaret Foley, the famous suffrage leader. The plan is to have the autos carry posters inviting people of the state to join in the big parade. The machines will travel from town to town on schedule time. In most cities and towns there will be speeches by the members of the party. It is expected that the autos will be draped in American colors. Each machine will also bear a "Votes for Women" flag.

The suffragists are enthusiastic over the prospects that their parade arrangements present.

From all over the state reports are reaching the general headquarters in Copley square, Boston.

The suffragists of nearly every city in the state have already completed arrangements for their delegations in the big parade. Other cities are rapidly following suit. Many of the suffrage leagues in the different cities and towns are to present special features of their own in the parade. In fact, nearly every city in the state will provide a feature for the parade.

It is expected also that the different women's colleges, and for that matter the men's colleges, in Massachusetts will present attractive features for the march.

Miss Virginia Tanner, the pageant maker and dancer, has charge of all of the floats, and special features in the parade.

She says that the Newton Suffrage league is arranging one of the most novel features which she has yet heard of. The Newtonites are to have

GLOUCESTER IS WORRIED

OVER CANADIAN PROPOSAL RELATIVE TO MANUFACTURED FISH INDUSTRY

GLOUCESTER, April 15.—The suggestion of the British ambassador and Sir Edward Morris, premier of Newfoundland, that Gloucester gave up the last shred of its protection in the duty on manufactured fish in return for the privileges of free ice, bait, provisions, transshipment of fish and inshore fishing, caused a mighty wave of protest from one unit of the city to the other. Every line of industry is emphatic in its protest. If this single retaining protection is taken away Gloucester's business will probably be transferred to Newfoundland and Nova Scotia. Under the Bayard-Chamberlain, Blaine-Bond and Hay-Bond and similar treaties with Canada ratified, but which the United States refused to accept, Canada stood plucking at the doors of congress ready to give all these privileges. Now Canada and Newfoundland have apparently secured them without giving anything in return.

Board of trade members held a conference yesterday afternoon to consider the situation. It is believed here that no privilege offered by the Canadian government can weigh for a minute against the incomparable advantage which the dominion would obtain

NATION-WIDE PROHIBITION

Urged Before House Judiciary Committee on Resolution Providing for Amendment

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Nation-wide prohibition was urged before the house judiciary committee at hearings on the resolution of Representative Hobson of Alabama providing for a constitutional amendment.

Mr. Hobson opened the argument. He contended that his resolution directed against the sale of liquor "for beverage purposes" would not interfere with state's rights. He said that if it were granted free manufactured fish.

The Taft reciprocity bill gave Canada, among other things, absolute free trade in all kinds of fish, cut or manufactured. This agreement was adopted by the United States, but was rejected by Canada. This option is still open to Canada, as the United States senate has refused to withdraw it.

A. Pratt Andrew, who initiated the recent negotiations leading up to the counter-proposal of absolutely free fish, when asked to comment upon Congressman Gardner's mediation in the negotiations regarding the privileges for our fishing vessels in Canadian waters, said:

"From the statement in the morning papers there seems to be some misunderstanding as to what we have been hoping to obtain from the Canadian government and as to the method of procedure. In our several conferences with the representatives of the state department we have not asked for any modification of existing treaties, nor have we sought for any special legislation from the Canadian parliament."

"We have hoped that all we have asked for if handled with discretion could be obtained through orders in council from the ministers of these countries. This has been well understood by the representatives of our state department with whom we have under the proposed amendment it would be possible to manufacture "for use" but not "for sale." The amendment, he said, would not interfere with the "old drinker-drinking" but would prevent the "debauching of youth."

He declared that about 55 per cent of the people in the United States were living in prohibition territory.

Among the representatives of the national W. C. T. U. were Mrs. Stevenson, Massachusetts, and Mrs. Deborah Livingsstone, Maine.

been negotiating, and it would be very unfortunate if now other methods of procedure should result in confusing the issue and in nullifying what we seemed at last on the verge of accomplishing for the fishing interests of Gloucester."

INQUEST INTO CAUSE OF FIRE IN ALLSTON WHERE SEVEN PERSONS LOST THEIR LIVES

BOSTON, April 15.—An inquest into the cause of the apartment house fire at Allston yesterday when seven persons lost their lives was called for today by the medical examiner, George B. McGrath. The inquest will be held by Chief Justice W. A. Bolster of the municipal court and will probably begin on Monday.

Investigations by state and city authorities, begun yesterday, were continued today and arrangements were made for an inspection of the building by the executive committee on metropolitan affairs which has before it several fire hazard bills. Those injured at the fire yesterday were all reported out of danger today.

EXCUSE ME

Tolson's chauffeur, Frederick Schwartz, turned to enter the place. The man was knocked to the ground. The child escaped. Child of Police Harry Gallagher, who witnessed the accident, put the man into the Tolman automobile. Schwartz drove her to Mount Sinai hospital. It was found that she had no broken bones, but suffered from shock and probable internal injuries. Schwartz was released on his own recognizance for a hearing before Recorder Yost.

HACKED TO DEATH

Woman Awoke and Found Man With Axe—Had Killed Brother

HUNTINGTON, L. I., April 15.—Miss Mary Sammis, who lives with her brother Frank, on their Long Island farm awoke early today to find a man with a bloody axe in his hands standing by her bed. In the dim light she recognized Frank Fowler, a young farm hand who slept in the house. "I just killed your brother upstairs," said Fowler, "and I'm going to kill you, too."

"I've always been kind to you, Frank," pleaded the woman, "and you have no reason for harming us."

"That's right," answered Fowler. "I guess I won't kill you, but I'll go away." And he walked out of the house, leaving the axe behind him.

Miss Sammis stumbled upstairs and found her brother's body on the bed with the head broken.

The police believe Fowler is insane. They were searching for him today.

FRESNO DAN LOSES

WILL NOT HAVE ANY SHARE IN THE DANIEL RUSSELL CASE, ACCORDING TO DECISION

BOSTON, April 15.—Under a decision of Judge Hammond of the supreme court, handed down yesterday, "Fresno" Dan Russell is not entitled to any part of the estate of Daniel Russell under the latter's will. He will, however, get half the property left by Wm. C. Russell. The standing of Fresno Dan (under the will of the father, Daniel Russell) was questioned, and in settling the estate of Wm. C. Russell it was necessary to have it determined.

In his will Daniel Russell provided that in the event of the return of his missing son, Daniel Blake Russell, within 20 years from the time of his (the father's) death he wished his son William would equally share the estate with Daniel.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study, with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 50c per box.

PANAMA CANAL

Opening May Cause World Wide Spread of Yellow Fever

BOSTON, April 15.—Fear that the opening of the Panama canal may be followed by a world-wide redistribution of yellow fever and cholera, which will threaten very great commercial loss, was expressed today by Dr. Richard P. Strong, head of the Harvard medical school of tropical medicine.

"The troubles to be feared from the spread of tropical diseases by traffic through the Panama canal," he said today, "are rather heavy financial losses through disturbance of trade than any great loss of life. Modern medicine has so far mastered the checking infectious diseases that in civilized countries no great mortality is to be feared from the introduction of plague, yellow fever and cholera. For the United States and for western Europe the fear is that the disease may spread before precautions are taken."

The driver, John Norton, Jr., and a companion riding with him gave themselves up to the police but were released on the medical examiner's decision that the boy's death was accidental.

BURN SILK BEFORE BUYING

MADISON, Wis., April 15.—Why did your last year's silk split and crack? Because it was adulterated. You might have tested it easily before purchasing and saved both money and worry. A piece of silk and a match are all you need for the test. Light the match and apply it to the fabric. If it holds its shape the silk is adulterated with some of the various minerals so used. If it runs together in a puffy mass the silk is pure.

This is one of the tests given in the new correspondence course in fabrics offered by the extension division of the University of Wisconsin.

HUERTA AT BAY
President Wilson's patience in dealing with Mexico seems to be exhausted. The various indignities to the United States, the murder of many of her citizens, and recently the arrest of a U. S. warship orderly with the intercepting of despatches to the United States government, have culminated in a situation which calls for some action from Huerta or otherwise some chastisement by the United States forces.

President Wilson in view of the latest insults to the United States has demanded that Huerta cause the American flag to be saluted by the Mexican soldiers in the usual way. This demand, it is understood, Huerta refused, stating that the officers who arrested the orderly had been punished by him and that no further action is necessary. President Wilson has decided otherwise, and he has determined that Huerta will salute the flag or that the Atlantic fleet shall seize Vera Cruz and Tampico. That might mean ultimate intervention for President Wilson says that after seeing the posts mentioned, he does not know what may follow.

"The honor and dignity of the United States must be recognized," says the president, and on this the sentiment of the country is behind him. This is certainly a crisis in our relations with Mexico that was unexpected; but one thing may be assumed, to wit, that if the United States goes into Mexico for the purpose of intervention, it goes not to quiet a part of the country but the entire republic from the Gulf to the Pacific, including Southern California, which according to reports Mexican dictators have been willing to trade off to Japan. To intervene and restore peace throughout Mexico would be a most costly and a stupendous task; but if undertaken by the United States it must be completed at any cost. The Mexican revolution has been following one another with such frequency that the prospect of any lasting peace is daily becoming more hopeless. The United States does not want Mexico nor the trouble of governing it, much less the task of restoring peace; but if forced to intervene then the work must and will be done with a firm hand regardless of the cost. The inhuman warfare carried on by the contending forces called by whatever name they may be, must be stopped. The citizens of other countries in Mexico must be protected regardless of the nations to which they belong and the United States government in discharging its responsibility under the Monroe doctrine is bound to stop it. Hence the situation at the present time is very tense and it is impossible to tell what the future will bring; but the sentiment among the United States senators and plainly expressed by some of them is, that if the American flag is hoisted in Mexico it will never come down. Meantime while our fleet threatens to capture Vera Cruz and Tampico, General Villa is gaining fresh victories over the federal forces and Huerta is desperately at bay.

THE CHILD LABOR LAW
The child labor law which prohibits the employment of children under sixteen years of age in factories was under discussion in the legislature yesterday and many of the evils of this law were exposed by representatives and people who had suffered loss or injury as a result of its operation. It was alleged that the law had produced a jobless class of children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen who could not work and would not go to school. That is but a mild statement of the actual facts. Anybody who visits the vacant lots or the commons of this city during the day can see gangs of boys shooting traps or playing ball when they should be either at work or at school. Many others, we are informed, frequent pool rooms where they form associations and habits that are not calculated to lead up to an industrious or law-abiding life. While some people believe the law will work out all right in the end, yet this is very doubtful when the majority of cases are considered. It is also a well known fact that in hundreds of cases where boys of this age have been thrown out of work, their mothers have been obliged to go into the mills and earn enough to support those boys in idleness. In such cases the absurdity of the law is very glaring because not only is the mother obliged to undergo great hardships but she is also forced to keep her boys in idleness, which means that they are contracting bad habits around the streets. It is an undoubted fact that while the intent of the law is good its operation injures many and benefits but few.

FOR ANOTHER FIRE SURVEY
The board of trade has taken a step in the right direction in asking the National board of fire underwriters to make another survey of the city of Lowell with a view to discovering any defects in our building laws or in our methods of fire protection. The underwriters association insists upon methods of fire prevention which are very valuable. In their last survey the inspectors made several important suggestions which we understand have with few exceptions been carried out. One of these was the laying of a second water main under the Merrimack river so as to provide against the possibility of a break in the one which has conveyed our water supply under the river for many years past. This was accomplished last year although the new main has not been used. It is then, however, to be used whenever needed. In view of the number of serious fires that have occurred in other cities it behooves us to take every precaution against a conflagration that might result in serious loss of life and property. To this end the proposed survey by the National Underwriters association cannot fail to bring about some improvements.

MILITANT SUFFRAGETTE PLAGUE
The militant suffragettes are the plague of England. No public official is safe from their attacks and their plots, and no public building can be protected against their arson squad. They have now adopted a new method of confounding the courts of justice. They set up a yelling and a caterwauling just as soon as their case is called so that nobody can be heard. A sentence for contempt of court would seem to be the proper thing to stop them; but they simply scoff at the idea of being punished. They have openly defied the courts while destroying property and menacing the lives of peaceable citizens. They seem to be so obsessed by the fanatical idea that they can compel the government to surrender forthwith that it is useless to appeal to them. They are injuring the cause of woman suffrage everywhere and fast convincing the world that it would not be safe to place political power in the hands of women capable of adopting such methods in their advocacy of reform.

SHOULD SPEAK ENGLISH
The Sun has repeatedly advised the Poles and other foreign nationalities in this city to learn to speak the English language as soon as possible. They can do this quite easily or at least without great difficulty by conversing with their friends in English instead of in their native tongue. The Poles should be encouraged to use the English language as much as possible from the fact that Joseph Conrad, one of the best English novelists of the present day is a native of Poland who did not know a word of English until he was twenty years of age. The ability to converse in English will be a great benefit to foreigners settling in this country and a step towards the still greater advantage of being able to read and write the language.

ARBOR DAY
Saturday, April 25, is to be observed as Arbor Day throughout the Commonwealth under a proclamation by Governor Walsh. While so many trees are lost from electric wires, mail posts, and lack of proper care, it is necessary to do something to compensate for the waste by planting new trees that in due time will help to beautify our city and afford hospital shade during hot weather, a most desirable consideration especially in the thickly settled parts of the city.

Now is the time for those who have the land or the opportunity to start planting a vegetable garden. Men who have the leisure cannot engage in any more healthful occupation than planting a little garden. The man who has a little experience in farming can raise enough in a small garden to supply his family table with fresh vegetables during the entire summer and autumn. It requires skill, of course, but this is easily obtained from those who know or from books and papers that deal with such matters.

The total cost of the Balkan war to Bulgaria alone is said to be $548,000,000, while the number of lives lost was about seven per cent. of the total adult population. Bulgaria started out well but threw away her prestige through jealousy against Greece and finally paid dearly for her selfishness. But for Bulgaria the Turks might have been driven out of continental Europe. Public sentiment in New York city is now demanding a speedy trial for Becker. The conviction that Becker is equally guilty with the four gunmen who paid the death penalty is more firmly grounded than ever. Indeed he is regarded as the instigator of the murder and, therefore, the arch conspirator in whose hands the other men were mere tools.

A number of churches have started a publicity campaign with a view to securing larger congregations. We believe in the efficacy of printers ink but doubt the permanency of the church membership obtained in this way.

SEEN AND HEARD

Try and get some joy out of your bird friends. The other fellow who took this month and will be glad to see you. Take some notice of them.

A Kansas man was so well pleased with his experience on Go-to-church Sunday that he declared he could scarcely wait for a return date in 1915.

No one when garden time comes will intentionally or maliciously recruit their children to destroy their own or their neighbor's gardens, and no neighbor feels like knocking a chicken over and throwing it over the fence, though the law gives you that right.

The person that tries each day to do a little something that will cause smiles to drive away frowns that will put sunshine into a sad heart, that will in a word make neighbors better and happier and more cheerful, that person is one of God's noblest creatures and is a benefactor to all mankind. Smiles and cheerful words in this world are worth so much. Like the pebble dropped into the lake, they cause the wave to go on and on and on, rippling merrily, and find lodgment in hearts. They are God's best agencies.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, John Leslie Simpson writes an article about the cooperation between parents and sons, particularly in Kansas where the importance of King boys on the farms is well recognized. Following is an extract from the article.

"The Kansas Farmer goes to it that the boy has a certain amount of recreation and pleasure scattered through his days of toil.

"The son of the Kansas farmer is trained along financial lines from childhood up so when he is ready to start the serious road of manhood he doesn't have to plunge in the water, so to speak, without knowing how to swim a stroke.

"A Kansas farmer who had become fairly well off by his own efforts trained his boy along these lines. When the boy was 12 years old he gave him a pair of colts, the boy to take care of them and help with the other work to pay for their feed. When the boy was 16 the colts had grown into a fine team of work horses. The boy now had some place, calves, etc., besides the team, and took a real interest in the farm and the work. By the time he was 19 years old he had nearly enough equipment to farm for himself. He bought another horse, and got some tools and sets of harness, and rented 25 acres of land from a neighbor. He helped with the work at home, and farmed a little for himself. Later he rented a quarter section of land. At 21 he has a full set of farming tools, horses, etc., and has landed squarely on his feet. Next year he will farm the home place on his own. Here is a good example of how Kansas farmers save their boys."

GIFT OF THE BUNGALOW
How long we lived before we knew, How long we lived and did not know I mean we all of us, I and you, What constitutes a bungalow.

We know Queen Anne's and the Mansard type, And various styles built row on row, But when hitting the dreamful pipe, We'd visions none of a bungalow.

Charles Rudyard Kipling out of the east— And that was 20 years ago— Who told of India's man and beast, And sowed the seeds of the bungalow.

Then here and there the thing took root, And spread like chaff the east winds blow! It grew and flourished and now the We're gathering in the bungalow. It's low and sloping and open wide To perennials that the Jasmynes throw. And happy indeed is the bonny bride, Who honeymoon in a bungalow.

So here's to Kipling and his fund, When to his list reward he'll go We hope the judges will all be kind, Because he brought us the bungalow.

IN THE CHURCHES

The very entertaining circus given by the boys of the Highland Congregational church, under the auspices of the M. C. club, several weeks ago, was repeated last evening in the vestry of the church to a good sized audience. Acrobats, tumblers and "marvelous performers" combined in creating more than a mere semblance of a real circus. Some of the animals which were put through their paces were quite remarkable, the giraffes being interesting. The parade given at the opening of the performance brought out a lot of special features. A demonstration of first aid work by boy scouts was another thing which proved new to many. This circus will be given once more tonight, and it will prove to be uncommonly diverting.

High Street
At the April social of the High St. church last night B. L. Page gave an interesting talk on his experiences in the Civil War and the battle of Gettysburg. Patriotic songs were sung by Miss Minnie Clifford and a chorus led by North Haverhill. The entertainment was directed by Mrs. E. W. Clark. Early in the evening a paper was served under the direction of Mrs. John L. Robinson.

Lowell Ministers' Union
A meeting of the Lowell Ministers' Union was held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. At this meeting was shown in the flying squadron campaign for federal temperance which is now being carried on in various sections of the country. This campaign is carried on by means of temperance speakers, who are sent out for the purpose of addressing mass meetings, and it is expected that one of these speakers will soon be secured for this city.

The talk of the afternoon was upon the topic, "What the Bible Means to Me," in which Rev. Charles T. Billings, Rev. M. W. Matthews and Rev. E. G. Alger took part.

Church Federation
The annual meeting of the Lowell Federation of Churches will be held next Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., at which officers will be elected and other business transacted. Mayor Daniel L. Murphy will address the members on "Churches and Good Government"; Rep. Victor J. Jett will speak on "The Church in Legislation"; and W. B. Wilson will talk on "Churches and Civic Betterment." Pastors are requested to announce this meeting to their congregations.

First Spiritualist
A bean supper and an entertainment were held last night at the First Spiritualist church in Middlesex street, under the auspices of the women of the church. The menu had been carefully prepared and was greatly enjoyed by the large number present. Mrs. R. E. Harvey had general charge of the supper and Mrs. Hattie Fletcher arranged the dining room. Refreshments in the kitchen were looked after by Mrs. George Dean. The waitresses were Misses Rita Jordan, Mabel Cram, May Dutton, Rebecca Hoyle, Amy Todd and Maud Long. Miss Dorothy Jordan had charge of the tickets.

A delightful entertainment was presented following the supper. Misses Daisy Stevens and Grace Chubb rendered several pleasing duets and there were songs by Miss Rose Chase, and organ solos by C. N. Cushman. In spite of the inclement weather, a large attendance of members and friends of the church was present and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

Palke Street Baptist
The Mizpah club of the Palke Street Free Baptist church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Oscar Sanders, 79 Atherton street. Following the business meeting, games were played and refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. F. F. Mann.

INDEPENDENCE OF PHILIPPINES

Strongly Advocated by Commissioner Manuel L. Quezon

Spoke Before Cleveland the Chamber of Industry

CLEVELAND, April 16.—Independence of the Philippines was strongly advocated by Manuel L. Quezon, one of the Philippine commissioners at Washington. In an address last night before the Cleveland chamber of industry.

"The duty of the United States to the Philippines, is plain," said Mr. Quezon. "Congress should enact a law giving the Philippines their independence. The reasons are these: 'This country has promised, both expressly and by implication, to withdraw its sovereignty from the Philippine Islands—by implication, when upon the declaration of war between the United States and Spain the government of the United States asserted that that war was not waged for territorial aggrandizement or commercial expansion; expressly, in that the past republican and the present democratic administration have both declared it to be the policy of the United States to give the Filipino people their independence when they can establish and maintain a government of their own, competent to discharge its obligations both domestic and foreign.

"The fundamental propositions upon which the declaration of independence was based and from which it acquires its obvious justification are the great and complimentary principles: That all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and that the right is inherent in every people to establish such government as to them shall seem best."

Referring to the time when independence should take effect, Mr. Quezon said:

"The question of time is all important. Those who promise an independence to be granted when you are dead and your sons and grandsons are all dead and buried are either liars or too shrewd to disclose to the American people the real purpose which underlies their protestations or if they are honest they have been fooled. What could that promise amount to, when you, who make it, shall not redeem it, and you, to whom the promise is made, shall not live to see it realized? Can you by your pledge bind generations yet unborn?"

As to Philippine capacity for independence, Mr. Quezon said:

"The argument of Filipino incapacity for self-government is hypocritical. It is all well with which the American office-holder covers his desire to keep his place. It is the arm behind which lurks the company which monopolizes our hemp, and the sugar interests which have already acquired in defiance of an act of congress fifty-five thousand acres of land in one tract, and a ready to get more if given time and opportunity."

Concerning the present administration policy toward the islands, Mr. Quezon said:

"President Wilson has adopted a policy whereby the question can be settled in the only practical way. After reaffirming the oft-avowed policy that independence is the goal toward which you would move as rapidly as the safety and permanent interest of the people of the Philippines would permit, the president has appointed a majority of Filipinos in the upper house, thus giving us the control of both branches of our legislature so that we may fully show our legislative capacity. The governor general of the Philippines at the same time, in harmony with the policy of the president, is appointing Filipinos to responsible administrative positions. If, in this last, the Philippines are successful, the speedy end of your occupation of the islands should come. If the Filipinos fail, there will be a halt, and friends of colonialism may claim, at least, a temporary victory."

Mr. Quezon paid a tribute to Governor General Harrison, and in conclusion said:

"Give the Philippines their liberty and there will be nothing they will not readily concede to you, their trade and their gratitude. America's flag may then cease to fly over our public buildings, but her influence will be everywhere and we and our children will bless the day when Dewey entered the Bay of Manila."

COMPARED TO GUNMEN

BISHOP JOHN W. HAMILTON SAYS SALOON MEN ARE CAUSE OF DEATHS

PORTLAND, Me., April 16.—"Every saloon man is as much a gunman as those who were executed this week in New York state. If you could trace the death of the boys as directly as was done with the gunmen, it would be found that the saloon-keeper is responsible for the death of men. These are strong words, but they are true!"

This was the striking characterization made of the saloon by Bishop J. W. Hamilton of Boston in an address on a set of resolutions before the opening session of the Maine Methodist Episcopal conference at its 30th annual session in the Pine Street church yesterday morning.

The resolutions voiced confidence in and support for the Rev. Wilbur F. Berry, D. D., superintendent of the Christian Civic League, in arousing and uniting moral forces in the interest of good government.

The passage of the resolutions was the occasion of earnest words from Bishop Hamilton, who is presiding at the conference.

"I want to say," said Bishop Hamilton, "that Maine has been in the eyes of the whole world on the temperance question. It has given leaders, who stand out as personalities because of the stand they have taken, and the leadership they have given. Great things are taking place in the movement, and the cause is going to grow from this time on." Then he made the statement referring to the gunmen.

Special attention was given to the question of furnishing aid and support to the retired needy ministers, widows and orphans of former ministers of the denomination. The importance of a greater response was urged and a plan was announced for a concerted movement during 1915 throughout Methodism to increase the support accorded by the churches for this beneficent work of the denomination.

WOMEN IN CONFERENCE AT BOSTON DECIDE TO URGE STATE-CONTROLLED INSPECTION

BOSTON, April 16.—A conference in the interests of clean milk legislation held yesterday in the Twentieth Century club under the auspices of the legislative department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's clubs resulted in a decision to wage a state-wide campaign for state-controlled inspection of milk.

The conference was opened by Esthery M. Andrews, chairman of the legislative committee of the federation. Mrs. Alfred Lustig, president of the Housewife's League of Providence, R. I., told a large audience, which included delegates from 35 women's clubs, how the women of her city gained a victory in the fight for pure milk. Mrs. William Lawrence, president of the Massachusetts Milk Consumers' association, who is responsible for the pure milk bill now before the legislature, also spoke.

APPLETON COMPANY PRESENTS PETITION

For Change of Lines in Revere Street—Company Will Extend Plant—Other News Emanating From City Hall

A very innocent little petition for the changing of the lines of Revere street has been submitted to the municipal council and it is believed that the petition means more than appears on the face of it. The petition asks that the lines of Revere street be changed by resolution to meet conditions as they are now on the ground. It is signed by A. G. Cummoek.

Revere street runs down from Middlesex street to Jackson street and it is reported that the Appleton Co. has asked that the lines of the street be changed in order to provide for the new buildings. It being stated that the company intends to tear down what is known as the old building and erect in its place a new brick mill building. The company neither affirms nor denies this report. The old building, so-called, was formerly occupied by the Caldwell Motor Co.

Remove the Tracks

Some people seem to think that this sticky business has forced the issue in speaking to more than one petition at the meeting of the municipal council yesterday, but the fact remains that one of the petitions, the petition for the removal of unused railroad tracks in Hurd street, dates back to 1912. The unused tracks are in Hurd street near its junction with George street and at the annual meeting of the Men's club of the First Universalist church in 1912 a committee was appointed to secure the removal of the tracks in question. Charles Stuckney was chairman of the committee and he probably feels it his duty in this case to bring about it, even at this late date. It was stated today that the railroad would probably not make any objection to the removal of the tracks. The petitioners claim that necessity, convenience and safety of the traveling public demand the removal of the tracks.

Warren Rindard's Job Secure

There was some question as to the right of the municipal council to elect a sealer of weights and measures, it being quite generally claimed that the position came under the jurisdiction of the civil service commission. All doubts as to the council's authority in the matter, however, have been set aside by the civil service commission in the following letter to Mayor Murphy:

Boston, April 13, 1914.

Hon. D. J. Murphy, Mayor, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:

I have to inform you that the civil service commission in its report of an opinion from the attorney general to the effect that the position of sealer of weights and measures in the city of Lowell is in view of the provisions of the charter of said city is not within the classified civil service.

Very truly yours,

Warren P. Dudley, Secretary.

Inspector Connor Happy

There was great rejoicing in the office of Commissioner Donnelly at city hall this forenoon and Commissioner Donnelly didn't have anything to do with it because he is not in a position to indulge in such rejoicing. Building Inspector Francis Connor was at the receiving end. He was the man whom everybody congratulated and Francis wore the unmovable smile. The cause: A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Connor at their home, 102 Pleasant street, last night.

Some Building Permits

A permit for alterations, additions and general remodeling of the brick building, 325-340 Market street, has been issued to Daniel A. Sotolarios. The additions will include bay windows, piazzas, etc., and the estimated cost is $4500. In the same street and at numbers 427-441 Angeles Conells will make numerous alterations for which permits were granted this forenoon. The estimated cost of Angeles' planning is $700. John Larcus will make additions and alterations to a house in Blossom street, the estimated cost of which is $700.

Workmen's Compensation Act

City Messenger Moulahan has received another request for the use of the aldermanic chamber at city hall for hearings under the workmen's compensation act. The first hearing will be held next Friday forenoon and the second on Wednesday forenoon, April 23.

Sausages and Other Things

Henry Shawl and others, take notice. City Clerk Flynn has received a copy of the following act relative to establishments for the manufacture of sausages or chopped meat, or for the breaking or canning of eggs:

Section 1. Whoever carries on an establishment for the manufacture of sausages or chopped meat of any kind, or for the breaking or canning of eggs, shall apply for a license to the mayor and aldermen of the city, the selectmen of the town, or, in a town having a population of more than 5000, to the board of health, in which such establishment is situated. The application shall be in writing, signed and sworn to by one or more of the owners or proprietors of the establishment, or by one or more of the persons carrying on such business, or by a corporation, by some authorized officer thereof, shall state the name and address of all the owners or persons carrying on said business, the situation of the establishment in which it is to be conducted and the nature of the products thereof to be sold or used for food. The board of health of a city or town may make and enforce such rules and regulations as it deems necessary for the conduct of all establishments mentioned in this act, and the license therefor may be revoked for any violation of such rules and regulations after notice to the licensee and a hearing before said board.

Section 2. Whoever carries on an establishment for the manufacture of sausages or chopped meat of any kind, or for the breaking or canning of eggs without a license as provided herein shall be punished by fine or imprisonment at the discretion of the court. (Approved April 5, 1914.)

AVIATOR IS ARRESTED

RAN OUT OF OIL AND LANDED IN CENTRAL PARK, NEW YORK—IN COURT TODAY

NEW YORK, April 15.—J. Guy Kilpatrick, an aviator, must explain in a police magistrate's court today why he descended in his monoplane in Central park yesterday.

"What would you have me do?" said Kilpatrick to the policeman who served him with a summons as he alighted from his machine. "Did you want the machine to fall, and you to pick up the remains?"

Kilpatrick left Garden City, L. I., to circle the city. He ran out of oil and glancing down saw that Central park was the only available open place for him to land. It was a choice of descending on city property or falling 3500 feet into a street or onto a roof, the aviator said.

HOODLUMISM CHARGED

Contempt Proceedings Brought Against Roxbury Neighborhood House Association

BOSTON, April 15.—Isabel H. Greenhood of St. Botolph street, owner of property at the corner of Abthyn and Superior places, brought a bill in superior court yesterday against the Roxbury Neighborhood House association, seeking to have it adjudged in contempt, to have it ordered to remove an iron fence which cuts off plaintiff's land from the place and to restore the grade of the place to its former level.

Plaintiff alleges that hoodlumism prevails on defendant's property, and asks to have the court abate it. She appears as her own counsel in the suit.

She had the association in court before and the case was referred to Walter F. Frederick as master. A settlement was effected and the action was dismissed. She alleged it was stipulated by defendant that it would remove the fence, which rests on pillars that are deeply laid on her land, but that the terms of the stipulation have not been complied with.

She alleges the rear of defendant's premises is used as a playground, that boys and young men gather there and in winter throw snowballs and injure the property and tenants of plaintiff. She characterizes the boys as hoodlums from various neighborhoods, and alleges they are encouraged in acts of vandalism and annoyance by agents of defendant.

She alleges that "sundry bands of hoodlums" collect in front of defendant's premises and are in the habit of carrying weapons and missiles and are encouraged to molest persons who are agents and tenants of hers.

In a baseball season, she says, the persons who play on the playground are so untrained that her tenants, or agents, and property are continually the object of lawless hoodlumism of players; that baseballs enter the homes of tenants through windows and open doors and enter the grounds and yard of plaintiff as many as 36 times a day on some occasions, and the players chase after them and by force and threats recover the balls. She alleges that at times they violently assault agents and tenants in their attempt to get the balls.

She further says that in winter the playground is flooded for use for skating and water flows on her land.

TROLLEY TRUSTEES NAMED

ATTY-GEN. McREYNOLDS ANNOUNCES APPOINTEES WHO WILL TAKE OVER LINES

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Judge Walter C. Noyes of New Haven, Conn., and William W. Hyde of Hartford, Conn., and Brainerd of Hartford, George E. Hill of Bridgeport, and Charles Cheney of South Manchester, Conn., were named yesterday as trustees to take over the Connecticut trolley lines owned by the New Haven.

Rathbone Gardner, Theodore F. Green, John O. Ames, John P. Farnsworth and Charles C. Mumford, all of Providence, R. I., were chosen to take over the Rhode Island trolleys. Announcement was made by Attorney-General McReynolds.

The announcement of the names of the trustees was accompanied by a statement of two sentences. In one the department said the men had been selected to serve "in case the suggested adjustment of the New Haven transportation problem is carried out" and in the other said "it is believed that the trustees named will be able to carry out the carrying out of the suggested adjustment was not taken last night to indicate that any disagreement had arisen between officials of the road and the department of justice.

The attorney-general and T. W. Gregory, his assistant in charge of the case, however, realize that the New Haven stockholders may vote not to accept the plan of dissolution, and in such a contingency only a suit under the Sherman law would be left to the government to effect the changes desired.

With the announcement of those two boards of trustees the settlement of the New Haven problem so far as the department is concerned, if the plan is accepted, is virtually over, only for another trustee board remains to be appointed, that for the Merchants & Miners' Transportation company, one of the New Haven's so-called outside steamship lines. There have been reports from Baltimore that a local trust company is negotiating for the purchase of this line.

Officials of the department said last night that the New Haven has complete control over both the Rhode Island and Connecticut trolley systems. They said the investment in the Connecticut line was about $40,000,000, and in the Rhode Island about $24,000,000. The mileage of the two systems was put at over 1800.

The two boards of trustees may serve five years each although a satisfactory disposition of the properties before that time would end the trusteeship.

IVORY WAS SUBSTITUTED

FOR HUMAN LEG BONE IN NOVEL OPERATION AT NEW YORK—FOREIGN SURGEONS ATTEND

NEW YORK, April 15.—American physicians performed many operations yesterday at the hospital of New York in the presence of foreign delegates to the fourth congress of the International Surgical Association. It was understood that Dr. Alexis Carrel would give a demonstration at the Rockefeller Institute upon an animal of his method of suspending heart action while an operation was performed upon the valves of that organ.

The foreign surgeons attending the clinics were much interested in the latest mechanical surgical instruments. A method of sawing bone with a tiny circular saw driven by an electric motor was shown. It was said that the aid of this motor involved the sawing of a piece of bone from a fractured leg. For the damaged bone a piece of ivory was fastened in the leg bone with ivory screws.

The menaces of cancer in chronic ulcers of the stomach and duodenum, necessitating their incision, were alluded to by Dr. W. J. Mayo. Surgical observation had been the source of knowledge of these lesions until the X-ray gradually won first place in their diagnosis, he said.

Open questions in radiological diagnosis of these ulcers upon which the present congress could throw light were pronounced by Dr. F. de Quervain of Basle, Switzerland. The principal controversial points centered around pyloric spasms, reflexes and gastric chemical action, he indicated.

"That operative treatment was often superfluous in these ulcers, which could be treated medically with success, was the opinion of Dr. Arthur D. Bevan of Chicago.

SIEGEL EMPLOYEES CALLED

APPEARED BEFORE GRAND JURY AT BOSTON TODAY—ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION PRESENTED

BOSTON, April 15.—Articles of incorporation of the Henry Siegel Co. of Boston and returns to the commissioner of corporations by the company were placed before the grand jury today. The returns of the company were for the years between 1909 and 1913, and each was sworn to by officers of the company.

A number of employees in the store were also called before the grand jury during the day.

TROUBLE EASILY RIGHTED

Charlie Morse, commissioner of streets and highways, has discovered what is exactly the trouble with the sewer main in Gorham street and he allows that he can straighten matters out at a comparatively slight cost. It looked for a time as if the whole length of the sewer from the manhole in Gorham street near Appleton street to the manhole in Winter street would have to be reconstructed, but Mr. Morse says he thinks that will not be necessary. He has found that the trouble was with the connection with the manhole near Appleton street. The connection broke at that point and filled not only the manhole but the sewer and he thinks that by renewing the connection and doing some backfilling everything will be all right.

LOCAL GREEK PARENTS ONE

Indignant at Having Their Children Out of School—Greek Observance of Holy Week

A meeting of Greek parents was scheduled to be held last night in the Greek Orthodox parochial school in Jefferson street in relation to school matters, but on account of the small attendance, the meeting was postponed to a later date, probably tomorrow evening.

As will be remembered, the Greek school was ordered closed last Friday by the board of health, and since that time the children, who number 210, have not attended school, and the parents are very indignant over this.

A meeting was called for last night and the parents were all notified to gather at the school which is located in the lower part of the church building, and their intention was to ask that a school committee be appointed to make arrangements for the opening of the new school in the building at 110 North Street, which was recently purchased by the community.

The new school was to have been opened shortly after the purchase, but on account of lack of funds the necessary alterations were not made and the community feel that if a school committee were appointed, funds could be raised and the work on the alterations started at once. They do not like the idea of having their children roaming about the streets when they should be in school, and many are very indignant over the matter.

For some reason or other the attendance at the meeting last night was very small and accordingly action was postponed to a later date. Some blame for the closing of the school was placed on the board of health, but it is believed that the school should have been provided for in a suitable building, while others believe that these men have already enough on hand and that a school committee should be appointed. However, it is believed that the matter will be settled in a few days and that the opening of the new school building will take place in the near future.

Good Friday

Elaborate services are being held this week at the church in observance of Holy Week and Friday special services will be held in commemoration of the crucifixion. This service will begin at 7 p. m. and will continue till 11 p. m. At 10 o'clock a procession will be held in the principal streets of the community, and what is known as the Epitaphs or catafalque will be borne in the procession. The line will be headed by the Sixth regiment band and the veterans as experts to the Epitaphs. The service will be from the church in Jefferson street to Market to Adams, to Cross, to Jefferson and back to the church, where the service will be brought to a close.

On Saturday evening a service will be held at 11 o'clock and the ceremony will last till 2 o'clock when a mass will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Hariton Panagopolos. At midnight the hymn "Christ Has Risen" will be sung by the choir and congregation, and that will be the only service held on Easter Sunday.

BRIEF ROMANCE ENDED TWO WEEKS' MISSION

EUGENE F. STEVENSON OF NEWTON SHOT HIMSELF IN THE HEAD

NEWTON, April 15.—With a bullet wound in the left temple, the body of Eugene F. Stevenson, 24 years old, was found about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the embankment at North-bank Tower, Weston. Beside it lay a .32-calibre revolver. A search of the man's pockets revealed only a business card and a letter to his young wife in which he gave instructions for the disposal of his body.

Mrs. Minnie Stevenson was a Georgia girl. She was married in that state two years ago while Stevenson was in the navy. He wooed her for only a week and his term expired in the next day or two. Since his retirement he has worked in several places and in the last year he had been an extra passenger brakeman for the Boston & Albany railroad.

Early in the winter the couple came from Alston to live at 65 Bourne street, near the home of C. H. Bourne, a well known resident of Central-church, and a member of St. Michael's church, where services were held last night. The celebrant being Rev. J. B. Labossiere. The hearers were J. Beaudry, W. Rheault and J. R. Lemaire. The service was in St. Joseph's cemetery in charge of Undertaker Amedee Archambault.

According to neighbors, Stevenson and his wife had not been on the best of terms for some time. Last Sunday there was a disagreement, and yesterday morning Stevenson went across the street alone for a cup of coffee. He returned shortly and gave to his wife his watch, a ring and some insurance papers. Then, declaring he was going away and would trouble her no longer, he left the house.

When he did not return at night Mrs. Stevenson thought nothing of it, but he had been working at night for some time. She was in the house throughout the day and did not return home until 7.15 p. m. When told of the death of her husband she immediately went into hysterics. It was late last evening before she could be prevailed upon to visit the police station and identify her husband.

The body was found by Edward A. Burns of Waltham and Clarence B. Brown and John L. Banks, both of Boston, who were automobiling. Stevenson had apparently been dead about two hours. Sergeant Chabousson and several officers of the Metropolitan police took charge of the body, and Medical Examiner George L. West of Newton Center pronounced death due to suicide. Stevenson was identified by papers in his pockets.

It is thought that he was a native of Weston and it was learned that he was two half-brothers and a brother. The latter, whose name could not be learned, was on his way from Charlestown, where he lives, Monday night to claim the body.

"Dago Frank" Said if He Got Out of Prison He Would be Killed Anyway

NEW YORK, April 15.—Interesting details regarding the confession of Dago Frank were given out by his sister, Miss Mary Cirofici.

"I am going, I must go," the girl says Frank told her. "If I should get out it would mean my death anyway, and that death would not be the only one I am about to have."

Miss Cirofici, 24 years of age, met interviewers in her mother's home, 366 75th street. With her was her brother Paul and a married sister, who declined to give her name, further than to say it was Rose.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, Mary Cirofici said, she reached Ossining with her mother, and they were brought into the presence of Frank. "He did not break down," explained the girl. "He smiled and said: 'Don't cry. I am going to tell you just how I feel.' Then he told us he had become a Roman Catholic and had received the last sacrament. I am ready to go to my Maker," he went on. "I am glad I am going."

He then asked his sister to take a message to Gov. Glynn; to tell him he was innocent; that he could talk, but wouldn't; that he would prefer to go to his God.

When the girl and her mother returned from Albany early Monday morning they went to the counsel chamber in the prison, where they again met Frank. Of Rosenthal's murder Frank said:

"Two shots. One man still walks the streets. I have no malice toward him."

He then said he believed the gamblers had framed Becker to "get even." Fr. Cuslin called Frank from the chamber. He returned in a few moments and the sister, expecting a reprieve, said:

"Is there good news?"

"Isn't it a fact," the young woman was asked, "that your brother mentioned Harry Vallon as the man who is now walking the streets?"

The girl's sister implored her to make no reply, after which she simply answered:

"I will not mention any names. I will not implicate anyone."

COUNSEL ATTACKS BILL

BOSTON, April 15.—Charges that there were improper motives behind the introduction of the bill to regulate, control and prevent fraud by correspondence schools were made today by Patrick Kelly, counsel for the International Correspondence school, the International Text Book Co., and the International Publishing Co., who appeared before the legislative committee on mercantile affairs to oppose the measure filed by the petition of former Representative Barnes of Mansfield. In the course of his argument, Mr. Kelly said that the bill was aimed at the International correspondence schools and sought to prevent that corporation from selling stock in other corporations. The measure was unconstitutional, he said, and it proposed to deprive this corporation of certain of its rights without due process of law.

BIG STRIKE OFF 8 HOUR DAY

170,000 Yorkshire Coal Miners Vote to Return to Work

LEEDS, England, April 15.—A settlement of the Yorkshire coal miners' strike was reached this afternoon when a ballot of the men resulted in favor of the resumption of work. The strikers, numbering 170,000, left work on April 2, demanding the introduction of a minimum wage scale.

The new law reduces the legal working hours for children under sixteen and not more than fifty-four hours a week of six days for women as secured in all cities of the state by the Smith bill, which Gov. Glynn approved yesterday.

The new law reduces the legal working hours for children under sixteen from fifty-four hours a week or nine hours a day, as has hitherto been permitted. It also provides that no female employee over sixteen shall be employed more than six days or fifty-four hours a week.

In addition, lunchtime for working women and children is extended from forty-five minutes to an hour, subject to the approval of the commissioner of labor. If an employee works after 7 o'clock at night, there must be an allowance of twenty minutes for eating between 7 and 7.15.

The provision of the old law which prevented female employees in cities of the second class from working after 6 o'clock p. m. is changed so that they may work as late as 10 o'clock.

"Under this bill," the governor explains, "the discrimination against cities of the second class is removed. While in cities of the first class female employees have been permitted to work sixty hours a week, they have been limited to fifty-four hours a week in cities of the second class. There is no good reason which applies in one case which does not apply with equal force in the other."

BLOODIEST BATTLE IN MEXICAN REVOLUTION

Survey of Battlefield at San Pedro
De Las Colonias Reveals Gruesome
Scenes—Federals Loss
3500, Rebels 1200

SAN PEDRO DE LAS COLONIAS, Coahuila, April 15, via Torreon, April 16.—A survey of the battlefield of the last week shows that the battle for possession of this city was the bloodiest of the revolution.

The battle was at its climax Saturday and Sunday and on the last day the rebel loss in wounded alone was 650 men. In all 1200 rebels were wounded so seriously as to require hospital treatment during the engagement. The rebel dead may never be known owing to the wide area covered by the battle.

The federal loss was at least 3500 killed, wounded, prisoners and dispersed. By dispersed is meant those federals who were separated from their commands and fled, individually or in small detachments to the hills or into the desert, probably to perish there for lack of food and water. Twelve hundred regulars were captured by the constitutionalists and mustered into the rebel ranks. A number of so-called volunteers, or "red flaggers" were captured and executed.

All the prisoners, including one major, three captains and ten lieutenants are being sent to Torreon.

The last day's fighting was begun with the Herrera and Benavides brigades attacking from the south while Villa with two brigades and General Contreras charged from the west. Gen. Ortega and Hernandez attacked from the east.

This was at 3 o'clock in the afternoon after ten hours of terrific fighting. In the streets 300 federal dead were found. The presence of General Velasco who evacuated Torreon April 2 at San Pedro was a surprise to Villa.

He learned from the prisoners that when the federal generals, Demouré and Maza were driven from the town last week they sent word of Velasco, then at Parras, 60 miles south, that they were in danger of being surrounded.

Velasco, by forced marches, succeeded in joining them April 10, at Benavides Junction. Only a few miles from here. Later the troops of Gen. Argumedo and Gen. Campo came up and the rebel garrison then here was driven out April 11. That night Villa with 5000 reinforcements and 20 field pieces arrived and began an attack which culminated Monday in the flight of the federals.

Failure of the rebel column assigned to the attack from the north to arrive on time probably saved the federals from annihilation.

The assault was met by a withering artillery fire. The federals were all but surrounded and fought desperately, their fire tearing great gaps through the rebel ranks. They fought over a line 20 miles in length, but gradually were forced toward the center of the city. Their escape was through the north, left open by the non-arrival of the troops assigned to that position.

AMERICANS CAPTURED
TORREON, April 16.—Five newspaper men, said to be Americans, dressed as federal troopers, are reported to have been among the prisoners captured at the battle of San Pedro de Las Colonias. Upon receiving this information Gen. Villa sent a newspaper man with his own forces to investigate.

PROMISES TO SALUTE THE AMERICAN FLAG

Dictator of Mexico Yields to Demands of President Wilson, and Promises to Fire Salute for Insult at Tampico —Pacific and Atlantic Fleets on the Way to Mexico

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Huerta has promised Charge O'Shaughnessy to salute the American flag in apology for the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico. The news was received at the White House today just as Secretary Bryan and Acting Chairman Shively of the senate foreign relations committee went into conference with President Wilson. Unless Huerta changes his mind the crisis promises to pass over within the next 24 hours.

"With smiling faces Senator Shively and Secretary Bryan came from the White House conference."

Situation Encouraging

"The president has some very interesting news," said Senator Shively.

"The situation is highly encouraging," said Secretary Bryan.

Then it was made known that despatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy had described his conference with Huerta last night as "very cordial and satisfactory" and officials said they were convinced that unless the charge had misinterpreted Huerta's intentions there was no doubt that compliance with the American demands for apology would be forthcoming within the next few hours and that the crisis would be passed.

The text of the despatches was not made public.

Huerta Yields in Washington

Other despatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy were expected today but both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were convinced by the despatches already at hand that Huerta had yielded to the pressure from Washington and the despatch of the fleet on both coasts to back up the demands.

Diplomatic representatives in Mexico City under orders from their home foreign offices anxious to avert a break had pressed Huerta to yield and Mexican in the United States had advised him that to apologize would be the best thing for Mexico.

"The situation is very encouraging," said Secretary Bryan after he received messages from Charge O'Shaughnessy in which General Huerta's attitude was described as yielding. Mr. Bryan and

THE HADLEY SCHOOL BUILDING CONDEMNED

Mayor Murphy Issues Proclamation on Clean-up Week for City of Lowell—Tuttle-Brown-Morse Seance at City Hall

The Hadley Street school in Middlesex Village has been condemned and Commissioner James E. Donnelly, whose department includes public buildings, will notify the school board either to repair or tear down the school building as it is a menace to public safety. The school is not occupied and has not been occupied for a long time, but its condition is such as to render it dangerous for children playing in that vicinity and for passersby.

There is some question, however, as to the city's right to remove the building inasmuch as the land upon which it stands has reverted back to the original owners, the heirs of Cyrus Baldwin, who gave the land for the school with the understanding that if the building was abandoned or used for other than school purposes the land would revert back to the family. In view of the fact that the school has been abandoned, the land, of course, has reverted back and the Baldwin heirs, who live in Woburn, might object to the city trespassing on the land for the purpose of removing the building.

SUPERIOR COURT

Widows Sue for Damages Caused by Death of Husbands

In superior court this forenoon, the cases of Grace Hall, administratrix of the estate of Fred A. Hall and Julia A. Hill, administratrix of the estate of Percy Hill, vs. Henry Thayer & Co. of Cambridge were called and tried together before Judge Sanderson and a jury. The ad damnum in each case is placed at $15,000. Allen & Barnes appear for the plaintiffs and H. & S. Sawyer for the defense.

The suits are the result of an accident which occurred in Cambridge in March, 1913, in which the husbands of both of the plaintiffs were killed. It is claimed that the intestates of the plaintiffs were working on a water tank on the roof of a building owned by the defense and located on Broadway, Cambridge, and that the water tank fell through the roof of the building causing the two men to fall to the ground, a distance of several feet. They sustained injuries and died a short time later.

Several witnesses, including men who were working on the tank when it broke, appeared on the witness stand and testified as to the condition of the building at the time of the accident.

A verdict of $267 for the plaintiff was returned by the jury in the case of Jeremiah Weaver of Woburn vs. Boston & Maine railroad, an action of tort in superior court this forenoon. The case was tried yesterday.

your mills shut down this summer for another eight weeks, do you?

Two years ago the present time was under protest against the grading system, and some of the manufacturers have started to line the weavers' pockets to the amount of $1 to $1.50. The average pay for the weavers in this city at the present time won't reach the sum of nine dollars per week all the year round. Here are some of the prices that are being paid at the present time, that the weavers have brought to this office, from a 40-inch loom:

Style 225, 150 pick, price $1.35 per cut, 42 to 54 yards per cut.
Style 371, 140 pick, price $1.00 per cut, 42 to 54 yards per cut.
Style 421, 150 pick, price .85 per cut, 41 yards per cut.
Style 762, 72 pick, price .75 per cut, 41 yards per cut.
Style 763, 170 pick, price $1.11 per cut, 41 yards per cut.
Style 772, 140 pick, price $1.05 per cut, 41 yards per cut.

The officials of this association wish to draw the attention to the fact that better prices are being paid in some of the mills in this state for weaving than in this city. The manufacturers here claim that they were asked to hold still the manufacturers of our city will allow the over-seers of the weaver rooms to build up this same skilled help, and if the weavers have any complaint to make in the winter months to the over-seers, the answer is that if the weavers don't like the way that they are treated, to get out.

Another complaint that the weavers are bringing into the weavers' office is this, that the different book-keepers in the weaver rooms in the city are looking the weavers shy on cuts; therefore trimming the weavers' pay again out of the small amount of wages that they can earn in the mills at the present time. Mr. Manufacturers, wake up, and take a little more interest in your help, and don't be selfish. The weavers at the present time are getting ready to take another vacation this summer, providing conditions don't change. The weavers' union officials warn all the weavers that are outside of the ranks to send in their names for membership before the next strike.

which were all pleasing.

Among those present were the pastor of the parish, Rev. J. B. Racette, D. M. L. Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, D. M. L. Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. L., Rev. Charles DeLuzot, O. M. L., Rev. Antoine Anyot, D. M. L., Rev. Arthur Bruchon, O. M. L., as well as several Marxist brothers. Much credit for the artistic success of the affair is due Rev. Bro. Bernardin and Volfrid P. Calise, Jr., who had charge of the staging of the play. The presentation will be repeated this evening.

"Le Comptable" deals with the high life led by a young man, Gustave Barot, and he is seen in the company of a young man who, like himself, leads a dissipated life, despite the fact that he has to borrow the francs to keep him going. Gustave rapidly piles up enormous debts and even in his work at the bank he proves inefficient. As a result of several serious errors he is discharged and within a few hours of his discharge he is caught in the act of committing a theft at the bank and in his rage he kills the owner of the establishment. The young man returns to his home and after some time he confesses to his father, who supplies him with sufficient money to leave the country. The play closes with the father saying his son is not the guilty party, but he, the father, is, in view of the fact that he has allowed his son to lead a free and unrestricted life.

The play is very interesting throughout and the parts were all well sustained. Those taking part were: W. P. Calise, Jr., Arthur Giroux, George Polier, George Ledoux, Arthur Lamoureux, Ernest J. Poupard, E. S. Desmarais, J. A. N. Chretien, John E. Richard, Wilmer A. Dragon, Rosaire Couture, Antonio Berger, Achille Gaultin, Cyprien Desmarais, Paul Choquette, Victor Hamel, Albert Sparks, N. J. Vigeant, Ernest L'Heureux, E. J. Laroche and others.

The comedy, "Apartment a Louer," a 20-minute sketch, proved a very lively affair and was well received. The parts were sustained by E. J. Dupont, W. P. Calise, Arthur Lamoureux, W. A. Dragon and J. A. N. Chretien and E. J. Laroche.

Between the acts comic songs were sung by E. S. Desmarais, while a comic duet was rendered by Messrs. Calise and Laroche. E. J. Dupont also rendered a musical selection. Bailey's orchestra supplied music during the evening.

ALLEGED SAFE BLOWERS

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 15.—Two alleged notorious safe blowers were captured by the police yesterday after a running pistol fight in which one of the men, who the police say is George Hardy of Baltimore, was painfully injured. The other man, according to police records, is Bert Sampson of Montreal. The authorities claim that the two have confessed to robbing 16 stores in Port Arthur and Fort William and are wanted in the United States.

CORNERSTONE IN 1699

WORKMEN DIGGING UP FAMOUS HARVARD ELMS FIND CORNERSTONE OF STOUGHTON HALL.

BOSTON, April 15.—Workmen digging up the famous Harvard elms in Harvard yard yesterday unearthed a brick foundation containing a portion of the original cornerstone of Stoughton Hall, erected in 1699, and torn down about 130 years ago.

The lettering on the stone was still visible enough to make its identity certain. The original Stoughton Hall, which has since been replaced by another building in the yard bearing the same name, was built in 1699 by a former governor of the Massachusetts colony. It stood about 50 years and then was torn down.

A Spanish coin bearing the arms of Carlos III. of Spain, and dated 1776, was also found at the bottom of the roots of one of the big elms.

$7500 GIFT TO PASTOR

WOMAN SEEKING TO RECOVER MONEY GIVEN BY HER LATE MOTHER

BOSTON, April 15.—Miss Minnie Sawyer, daughter of Mrs. Alice T. Sawyer of Watertown, who, as administratrix of the estate of her mother, Mrs. Mary J. Tourtellotte, is seeking to recover $7500 given by her mother to her spiritual adviser, Rev. William S. Kelsey, broke down and cried on the witness stand yesterday afternoon while being examined by Attorney H. B. Richardson.

The suit is being tried in the equity session of the superior court before Judge Pierce.

PROCLAIM MARTIAL LAW

State Troops Fire Volley Over Heads of Jockeys Who Disregarded Order of Court

TULSA, Okla., April 16.—Disregarding a restraining order issued by the superior court, state troops yesterday took possession of the Tulsa fair grounds, proclaimed martial law by Gov. Lee Cruce, and when an attempt was made to run the races carded for the afternoon, fired a volley over the heads of the jockeys.

With this show of force and the declaration of Frank M. Canton, adjutant-general, who was in personal command of the troops, that if another race were started the militiamen would fire to kill the horses, officials of the Tulsa Jockey club ordered the spring race meeting abandoned, at least temporarily.

Yesterday's action culminated a contest over the right of "hookmakers" to operate at the track.

The next move will be the hearing of habeas corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of several men arrested by the state troops yesterday.

SCHOONER STRUCK IN GALE
SEABRIGHT, N. J., April 15.—In the heavy gale last night an unidentified three-masted schooner struck near here and was carried a mile down the coast to Galilee, where she stuck fast, flashing signals of distress and exploding rockets. West End and North Long branch stations sent life saving crews. Crowds were attracted to the beach by the schooner's signals.

By midnight the life savers had shot four lines across the schooner. To their surprise the lines were not made fast on board. From this it was considered possible that the crew had perished or, lashed to the masts to keep from being swept overboard, were unable to reach the lines.

THINK BRIDE MURDERED

CORONER'S JURY DISCREPITS SUICIDE IN NORWAY, ME. TRAGEDY FOUND DEAD WITH GUN

NORWAY, Me., April 16.—Instead of accepting a theory of suicide which was advanced, a coroner's jury last night reported that Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings, 17 years of age, a bride of only 15 months, met her death at the hands of an unknown person. Mrs. Cummings died from a gun shot wound at her father's house in Albany, near here, yesterday. When her mother, Mrs. William Adams, called neighbors to the house, saying that the young woman had committed suicide, they found the body on the floor of the sitting room with a shot-gun beside it. The gun was one which had been kept in the house.

Mrs. Adams said she believed that her daughter had become temporarily insane through dwelling on stories of a neighbor's suicide a year ago. Coroner Albert P. Bassett, impaneled a jury today and the results of an autopsy and of the investigation of circumstances surrounding the death were placed before it. After considering the case all day the jurors last night agreed that the young woman had come to her death "by a gunshot wound at the hands of some person unknown."

Neither the coroner nor the medical examiner would supplement this verdict with any explanation last night. Mrs. Cummings was married in January, 1912, to Sherman Cummings of Groveton, Vt. She had been living with her parents recently, but was preparing to rejoin her husband at Bethel, Me., yesterday. Her trunk was found in her room at the house partly packed for the journey. Her father is a farmer in prosperous circumstances.

"PEG OF MY HEART"

Delightful Comedy Enjoyed by Large Audience at the Opera House Last Evening

"Oh, there's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

This quotation, the concluding line in the comedy, "Peg of My Heart," which was given at the Opera House last evening, sent home a large audience with memories of one of the best shows of its kind ever given in this city. It also eloquently expressed the sentiment of the play.

"Peg of My Heart" is a clean, merry little comedy of right living, with human touches and, while last night's company was not the original cast, all numbers played their respective roles satisfactorily, and their work was well appreciated by those present. It is a refreshing piece done up in an irresistible Irish wrapper.

"Peg," the leading character of the comedy, was played by Miss Marion Denler. Her work was the feature of the evening and she captivated the audience from start to finish. She is an exceptionally clever woman and, though called upon to depict many various characters and scenes, she handled all with simplicity.

The role of "Jerry" or "Sir Gerald" requires a peculiar combination of characteristics and these are well supplied by Cecil Owen. He gave a perfect interpretation of the role.

"Alaric," another important role, was well portrayed by Harold Hendee. He's a real English lad, with true accent, and his acting was all that could be desired.

"Mrs. Chichester" was played by Florence Carver. She made a dignified and clever mother and took good care of her part. "Ethel," her daughter, was finely acted by Crosby Little. "Jarvis," the butler, was the part assigned to John E. Trever, and he did it well.

"Montgomery Hawkes," played by Reginald Carrington, was good. "Christian Brent," the villain, was taken by L. C. Carroll, and "the maid" was portrayed by Violet Moore.

FAST DAY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE
CONCORD, N. H., April 16.—For the first time, so far as available records show the legally established holiday of fast day officially proclaimed by Gov. Samuel D. Parker for today passes without recognition by any religious service in the state capital. The cessation of business is practically complete, but otherwise the day is without observance. Fast day usually marks the opening of the baseball season in New Hampshire, and both professional and school games had been scheduled for today, but the grounds are covered with snow, making play impossible.

FOR NEW LOCAL BANK

Leading French American Citizens Plan to Organize One Here in Lowell

If present plans mature Lowell will soon have another co-operative bank, and the new institution will have at its head a group of Franco-American business men of this city. The bank will be on the co-operative plan and it is believed it will be a paying proposition.

The Franco-Americans of Lowell have been talking the matter over for some time, and about a year ago a meeting was held in the upper Merrimack street district for the purpose of organizing a savings bank which would be located in a new building in Moody street, but for some reason or other the proposition fell through.

However, some of those who were interested did not give up the project, and recently the question of a bank with Franco-American stockholders was again brought to the attention of business men and steps were taken to organize a co-operative bank. Lawyer Arthur L. Eno, who was recently admitted to the bar, was called upon to draft by-laws and the movement was immediately started with the result that out of the 25 names necessary to have the bank incorporated, already 15 names have been secured and the signers have subscribed for about 100 shares, which will cost $2000.

In a short time a meeting will be held at the office of Lawyer Eno and the necessary steps for the incorporation will be taken. It is believed that the new bank will be in operation within three months, and it plans to not only carry this will make the fourth co-operative bank in Lowell, the others being the Lowell, Middlesex and Butler.

DOUBLE FUNERAL
Lowell Women, Victims of Hub Hotel Fire Buried Today

With the auditorium of the First Universalist church on Essex street filled with sorrowing relatives and friends, the funeral services of Mrs. Bertha H. Suharrell and Mrs. Edith Bennis, sisters, who lost their lives in the fire at the Hub hotel, were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The services were very impressive and were conducted by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, pastor of the church. Music was furnished by the First Universalist church choir quartet, composed of Mrs. Winnie Symonds, Mrs. Fred L. Roberts, Mr. Fred Booth and Mr. Harry Needham. The bearers were Messrs. D. A. Swan, C. C. Swan, W. C. Hudson, George R. Lockwood, Malcolm Greene, C. S. Glendon, J. A. Gaskley and W. S. B. Stevens, the last four mentioned of Boston. The ushers were in charge of Mr. L. H. Devore. The caskets were covered with many beautiful floral tributes. Burial took place in the Edison cemetery under the direction of Undertaker Weinbeck.

MATRIMONIAL
A pretty marriage took place yesterday afternoon at the Immaculate Conception church rectory, when Mr. Patrick Pollard and Miss Mary Kennedy, two popular young people of this city were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Lawrence F. Tigh, O. M. I. The bride wore white silk and carried white and pink roses, and was attended by a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Annie Pollard, who was attired in white silk and carried pink roses. The best man was George McErlaine. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bride party repaired to the home of the bride, 224 Fayette street, where a dinner was served followed by a reception. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard, who were the recipients of many cordial wishes, will make their home at 224 Fayette street.

THE HADLEY SCHOOL
ing, or for any other purpose. It is generally conceded that the building has been shamefully neglected by the city and the people of Middlesex Village have spoken about it many times. It is a comparatively new building, having been erected about 1885. It took the place of the old school erected there in 1820. The old school was moved away and was made, so Judge Samuel P. Hadley informed the writer today, a part of the cell of Mr. Hall's house in Standman street.

Mayor Issues Proclamation
Mayor Murphy has issued a proclamation having to do with the preliminary days of clean-up week and has set aside April 18, 19 and 20 of the present month. These dates cover next Saturday, Sunday and Monday and when it was suggested to the mayor that it was rather out of the ordinary, perhaps, to include the Sabbath in the clean-up process, his Honor remarked that a man might just as well work about the house on Sunday as to play billiards. The proclamation:

PROCLAMATION
Attention has been frequently called in the state and city to the great importance of maintaining clean and sanitary conditions in and around our homes, and in all business and public places. In order that pestilence and disease may be ward off and our fair city be made a cleaner and better place in which to live.

Spring is a time when the greatest care and attention should be given to removing and destroying the winter's accumulation of debris, dirt and filth which later is left in such a condition, may become the breeding place of flies and source of disease. In every community attention is being called to this matter, in order that civic pride may be aroused and attention directed to the necessity of carefully cleaning our homes, our yards and premises, and our streets and alleys.

Now, therefore, I, Dennis J. Murphy, mayor of the city of Lowell, in order to bring about the accomplishment of the purpose indicated, do hereby designate and set aside April 18, 19 and 20 as preliminary days of clean-up week for the city of Lowell, and do urge all citizens and residents of the city to lend all possible effort toward making the work of cleaning and renovating so thorough that at the end of the time designated our city shall be in all respects one of the cleanest and most sanitary cities in the commonwealth.

Dennis J. Murphy, Mayor.
Tuttle-Brown-Morse Service
There was "some" lively time in the office of the commissioner of streets at city hall this forenoon and to the reporter who happened in the park department office, next door, it seemed as if mere words wouldn't settle the argument.

out statements of some kind regarding his, Mr. Brown's, administration of the street department, and Mr. Brown understood that the statements were of a derogatory nature.

Clark Tuttle visited the office of the commissioner of finance yesterday and Mr. Brown, so the story goes, took him to task for certain things and it is understood that Mr. Tuttle made his end of the argument quite lively. This morning Commissioner Brown carried the argument to Commissioner Morse's office and Mr. Morse acted as sort of referee.

The discussion opened on the point which was discussed at a recent meeting of the municipal council; but, purchased by the street department a few years ago and never used. After this matter had been thrashed out, more or less unsatisfactorily, Commissioner Brown requested Mr. Morse to instruct Clerk Tuttle that in the case of the giving out of statements that they be given broadcast, to all of the papers. This was agreed to and the incident for the time being, was closed. Let it be understood, however, that all that was said at the conference does not appear in this story.

Milk Inspector Burned
Milk Inspector Master was severely burned while experimenting in his laboratory on the top floor of city hall yesterday afternoon. While he held a glass containing alcohol over a blaze the fumes ignited and the hot alcohol fell upon his hand and wrist. There were three or four others in the laboratory at the time, including the senior of weights and measures, and while Mr. Master could have saved himself by dropping the glass he feared he would set fire to his visitors and he jumped to the sink and dropped the glass. The pain was intense and having heard that relief was a great thing to relieve the burning smart he dashed a lot of it on his hand and wrist. It relieved the pain and it also changed the color of his hand to a very unbecoming yellow. His hand and wrist were badly blistered, but he allows that he will be able to attend to business in old time form in a few days.

Class From Harvard
Clinton L. Rice, the chemist employed by the street department in pursuit of better water, was visited yesterday by a class from Harvard college. It was Prof. W. H. Apple's class, seven in all. They were all very much interested in the experiments that are being made by the water department and they would come again. Mr. Whipple, professor of engineering at Harvard and Mr. Rice is one of his pupils.

More Building Permits
Ernest C. Dumas has been granted a permit for a new dwelling at 376 Andover street. The estimated cost of the building, which will be 438 feet, two and one-half stories, is $3,800. J. R. Clark is the architect and the builder is Percy Varman.

HUERTA COMES DOWN
war fleets on their way to force the Huerta government to salute the stars and stripes. Gen. Huerta discussed with members of the senate in Mexico City the demands of the United States for reparation for indignities at Vera Cruz and Tampico while at Washington. President Wilson and his advisers await word from Charge O'Shaughnessy of affairs in the Mexican capital.

In this critical situation the constitutionalists who by their successive victories over the federal troops dominating southern Mexico, have as yet taken no part, but reports have reached Washington that during the next 24 hours Gen. Carranza and his cabinet will meet to decide what attitude should be assumed by them toward the despatch of the American fleets to Mexican waters and the relations between the Huerta government and the United States generally.

Washington representatives of the constitutionalists have telegraphed the cabinet, counseling a careful and cautious policy, and suggesting that no pronouncement of any kind be interjected into the situation. The constitutionalists here are emphatic in their expressions that they do not recognize Huerta's government or his right to conduct the international relations of the country and declare that so long as territory controlled by their forces is not invaded they will take no offensive action. On the other hand they realize that the international situation in Mexico would be gravely complicated if Huerta should recognize the constitutionalists as the legitimate government.

Huerta in Executive Session
Information, as to just what Huerta discussed in his executive session with the Mexican senate yesterday was still lacking early today, but speculation was freely heard in official circles that he had decided to adopt an unyielding course.

The delicate position of Charge O'Shaughnessy and the possibility that he might be given his passports was frequently commented upon. Those familiar with Huerta's disposition professed the belief that he would flatly refuse to fire a salute and would attempt to carry his case before other international governments, disputing under international law the right of American bluejackets to enter Mexican waters where Mexico inasmuch as he had not renewed permission to American warships to remain in Mexican waters or grant the United States bluejackets and marines permission to land.

Since the United States does not recognize the legality of Huerta's government it has ignored his right to extend or refuse permission to American warships to stay in Mexican waters and has kept its men of war there on the ground that a condition of anarchy in Mexico justified, under international practice, the continued presence of the vessels as a measure of protection for foreign residents.

MERRIMACK RIVER PROJECT FAVORED

Committee on Harbors Recommends $1,000,000 Appropriation if the Federal Government Gives Like Sum

The committee on harbors and public lands has reported a resolve in favor of $1,000,000 appropriation for the development of the Merrimack river from Lowell to the sea. The report was made to the legislature yesterday. The appropriation is contingent upon a like amount being appropriated by congress.

The resolve providing for a state appropriation of one million dollars follows:

"Resolved, that there be allowed and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth a sum not exceeding one million dollars, to be expended by and under the direction of the board of harbor and land commissioners, for the improvement of navigation of the Merrimack river from the sea to Hunk's falls at Lowell by the construction of a channel therein; provided, that no part of said sum shall be available or expended until the congress of the United States shall appropriate a project and make an appropriation therefor to improve that part of said river from the sea to a point opposite Ward hill, about one mile above Haverhill, so that a continuous channel will be provided throughout this part of the said river not less than 18 feet deep at mean low water and of adequate depth."

THIS SKIN PEELER ALL THE RAGE IN SOCIETY

There is a growing tendency among women of culture and fashion to pay more attention to hygienic means of preserving their charms. The advent of merciful wax douches has been largely responsible for this. This remarkable substance produces complexion so natural in appearance, so magnetically beautiful, artificial complexion are no longer desired. Instead of "coloring" the face, the skin is peeled off in such fine particles, no discomfort is experienced. The fresher, younger skin beneath, wholly in evidence within a week or two, is lily white, soft and smooth. It's not a patched-over complexion, but a brand new one. That's why merciful wax has become such a rage among society folk. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings. All druggists have it; one ounce will do.

HOME RULE CONFERENCE

CALL ISSUED FOR GATHERING IN BOSTON AT TREMONT TEMPLE ON APRIL 23

BOSTON, April 16.—A conference of the friends of Irish home rule in Massachusetts has been called for 2 p. m. April 23 in Gilchrist hall, Tremont temple, to take practical steps toward upholding the Irish parliamentary party in the final stages of the home rule struggle.

A circular letter inviting advocates of home rule to take part in the deliberations will be sent out today from the United Irish league headquarters in Boston and through the initiative is being taken by the league it is not intended that the deliberations shall be confined to any particular organization.

Besides the branches of the United Irish league, the responsible officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Irish County clubs and various other bodies interested in the Irish struggle have been invited to attend or send representatives.

In the call signed by Thomas H. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer, and Michael J. Jordan, secretary of the United Irish league, is pointed out: "Massachusetts played at the last National convention of the United Irish league of America $25,000. Of this amount $15,000 has been contributed, leaving a balance of $10,000 yet to be subscribed. We wish to make good our promise and to raise the remaining $10,000 before the final passage of the home rule bill."

"The effect of the many great reforms won by the Irish parliamentary party is that a new Ireland has been created. We are within sight of the final passage of the last great reform—home rule. The work of generations is about to be accomplished and we trust that you will interest yourself in doing your part in securing this great act of justice and that you will be present at this meeting.

"If, however, it is impossible for you to be present, you will materially assist the object of the meeting by making it your purpose known to any friends who might be patriotically inclined to send a subscription to the national treasurer to aid in the raising of this sum of $10,000. All contributions of $5 or over will be acknowledged by the national treasurer.

"It is the least that we may expect that every friend of Ireland who has not already contributed will do so now. As the secretary is anxious to have as complete a list as possible of those who will be present, will you kindly notify him of your intention as soon as convenient?"

PASSENGER RATE

Readjustment on All Inter-State R. R. Effective May 1

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Readjustment of passenger rates on all interstate railroads in the United States in conformity with the long and short haul provision of the law, under orders of the Interstate Commerce commission, will become effective on May 1. The new tariffs filed by the roads with the commission indicate a material reduction in fares, particularly from important terminals and rate-making points to intermediate points.

It is estimated by officials of the commission, after analysis of the tariffs that "55 per cent of the changes in fares will be reductions," and 5 per cent increases. Such advances as are made are between terminals or basing points, and in such instances the increases are made only when the traffic to intermediate points is so great as to offset seriously the revenues of the roads.

Soon after the enactment of the long and short haul provision, the commission ordered the carriers to readjust their passenger fares in conformity with that principle. At the request of the roads the commission postponed that effective date of its order until a decision in the Minnesota rate case and in the other cases involving the right of states to fix rates had been handed down by the United States supreme court. Later the supreme court upheld the authority of states to make rates, and the commission directed the roads to readjust their passenger fares by May 1.

Except in such instances as the commission may grant permission to the carriers for well-defined reasons, to exact higher rates for the shorter than for the longer haul, the roads will be required precisely to conform to the law's provision.

To what extent compliance with the orders may affect the revenues of the roads, the commission has no means of determining accurately because that will depend largely upon the volume of traffic, which is a variable quantity.

DYING SAILORS ON BOARD

TAMPA, Fla., April 16.—With two wounded sailors on board, the German tank steamer Osage from Tampico put in quarantine here yesterday. Stray bullets fired in the fighting between Mexican Federalists and rebels at Tampico struck the sailors who were on the ship. One of them may die.

The Osage had a number of bullet holes in her superstructure. The British steamer Trinidadian, with several bullet marks on her hull, arrived yesterday from Tampico.

UNITED HEBREWS OF AMERICA

BOSTON, April 16.—The supreme court yesterday was asked to enjoin the Order of United Hebrews of America from doing further business and to dissolve the organization and take charge of its funds, amounting to $20,000. The request was made by Assistant Attorney General Leon R. Tyges, who said that it was planned to reorganize "under the eyes of the court." Dissension among the members and a decline in the membership had been cited to have caused the condition which prompted the request. The court issued an order, returnable April 21 for the organization to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed.

COMMON SENSE ABOUT COLDS

With a Little Care no One Need Ever Have a Cold

No. 3

If people could just get a plentiful supply of fresh air and enough exercise to keep the blood circulating properly there would not be any such thing as a cold.

And we don't get the fresh air—

And we don't take enough exercise—

We live in over-heated houses—

We ride in badly ventilated street cars—

We dress too warmly—

Our skin and the membranes of our throat and nose become over sensitive—

We are not able to resist the attacks of the cold microbes—

The first little unusual exposure to cold or dampness starts the shivers.

We begin to cough and sneeze—

"The invading army of microbes is at work."

Then is the time when delay is dangerous—

La Grippe, pneumonia, rheumatism, all follow in the train of a neglected cold.

When you feel those first shivery indications of a cold go to your druggist at once.

Ask him for a box of Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets.

A few doses will knock out the cold in twenty-four hours.

La Grippe will be cured in three days.

We guarantee this—you can have your money back if it fails.

Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets have been used by cold sufferers all over the world for fifteen years.

They are positively harmless, have no unpleasant after-effects and always do their work.

Be sure to get the genuine—the box with the red top and Mr. Hill's picture on it.

It is a standard remedy made by the W. H. Hill Company of Detroit—all druggists have it—the price is 25 cents.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. If you want a clean pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days, you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel, yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at the 25c price box.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

VENUE IN DISTRESS

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., April 16.—A vessel believed to be a steamer or large schooner was reported in distress today off Cape Porpoise. A large number of rockets were sent up from a point off Bailey and Green Islands and not far from shore. It was snowing and very thick and a northeast wind was blowing strong. The revenue cutter Woodberry at Portland was notified and was to start out at once to render assistance.

KILLED BY EXPRESS TRAIN

MAY BE MINISTER WHO DISAPPEARED AFTER A "WET" AND "DRY" FIGHT

CLEVELAND, O., April 16.—The body of a man who was killed by a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern train here on April 6 may be that of the Rev. Louis B. Patmont of Milwaukee, Wis., who disappeared from Westville, Ill., on April 1, the police said last night after receiving from Chicago a description of the minister. Mr. Patmont was missing from Westville after a "wet" and "dry" fight.

On account of being unable to touch Sturtevant at opportune times, Groton went down to defeat yesterday afternoon on their home grounds before the waving wands of the Lowell Textile team. Sturtevant shut out the Groton team, 5 to 0.

Textile batted in midseason style, Sturtevant himself being the real bat.

edent is established by the bill whereby appointive excise boards for other cities and towns might be asked for.

At this time Boston and Fall River are the only two cities where excise boards named by the governor are in operation.

The father of the bill is Representative Beck of Chelsea.

The veto message says in part: "I believe that as far as possible every local community should be left to govern itself and to determine for itself questions of administration and public policy which affect its interest. Local self-government can only be as good as the citizens make it."

"The remedy, when our municipalities are unfortunately suffering from poor administration, is not state control. If a city cannot determine for itself questions of administration relative to the liquor traffic, we may not also expect to have it control the control of the police of this or some other city should be given over to the state."

"It is but another step to state control of the schools, the health and fire departments of municipalities. The tendency of creating local excise boards under state control will lead to such a centralization of power by the state of the granting of licenses that it would necessitate the establishment of a state excise commission or some central board to perform this work. The wisdom or unwisdom of such a plan is not here at issue."

A large number of members of the Lowell Nest of Owls attended the performance at the Owl theatre last evening.

MAYOR MUST ACT

Lawrence Pastors Continue Warfare Against Sunday Shows

LAWRENCE, April 16.—At a meeting of the committee on Sabbath observance of the Ministerial association Tuesday afternoon it was unanimously decided to continue the warfare against the Sunday shows until they are made clean and wholesome or are abolished altogether. They have not divulged their future plans; but they declare that they will exhaust every means within their power to accomplish this purpose.

Highway 2, the slogan is: "Clean moral shows on Sunday in Lawrence, or none." We will continue the agitation along that line until the reform is effected, whether it takes a week or month, a year or longer.

FOR LIGHTING VEHICLES

NEW ACT PASSED THIS MONTH PROVIDES FOR LIGHTING VEHICLES AT NIGHT

The majority of those who own motor or horse-drawn vehicles are probably not aware that the most stringent act yet passed by the Massachusetts legislature relative to the lighting of vehicles at night went into effect yesterday.

The new act now states distinctly that an hour after sundown must see every auto or carriage lighted with a lamp or lamps which can be plainly seen from the rear as well as the front and that vehicles must be thoroughly equipped until one hour before sunrise. The act reads as follows:

An Act Relative to Vehicles Carrying Lights at Night on Public Highways and Bridges.

Be it enacted as follows:

Section one of chapter five hundred and seventy-eight of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven is hereby amended by striking out the words "or to any vehicle while upon any lighted street or highway where street lights are maintained at a distance of five hundred feet apart or less," in the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth lines, so as to read as follows:

whether stationary or in motion, on any public highway or bridge, shall have attached to it a light or lights which shall be so displayed as to be visible from the front and the rear during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise; provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any vehicle which is designed to be propelled by hand, or to any vehicle designed for the transportation of its principal freight, of hay or straw while loaded with such freight. (Approved March 16, 1914.)

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

An invitation has been extended by the Past Commanders association of Massachusetts division, Sons of Veterans, to the department officers, Ladies of the G. A. R. and also all circles of the department, to attend a reception in Faneuil hall, Boston, on April 23 at 8 o'clock in honor of Frank J. Donahue, division commander of Sons of Veterans.

The Betsy Ross circle, No. 21, Ladies of the G. A. R., held its usual supper and entertainment at the regular meeting on the night of April 21.

Spanish War Veterans

The members of General Albert Adams camp, Spanish War Veterans, are already making preparations for the celebration of Memorial day and at a meeting last evening it was voted to attend and entertain services in the First Universalist church in a body.

The members will take part in the parade and are also planning to decorate the graves in the different cemeteries. A large delegation from the local camp will attend the convention in Haverhill April 18, 19 and 20.

DEE ON DECK

"Shorty" Arrived Last Night—Will Probably Play Third Base

Well, "Shorty" Dee has at last put in an appearance. "Shorty" arrived last night while the candidates for this year's Lowell club were all at the Opera House, and just to show that he wasn't at all afflicted with a bashful disposition, the Lynn boy marched up to the ticket office and demanded a seat in the boxes where sat his teammates.

Manager Gray, in spite of his oft-

Lowell Infielder Who Arrived Last Night

repeated assertions that he knew Dee would eventually arrive, was much obliged to see his star infielder leave in sight. He was given a great reception when he entered the box.

Dee will probably be played at the hot corner again this year if a likely looking shortstop is picked up. However, the stocky infielder can be worked in at the third base if necessary. It is difficult to see how he can be worked in at the third base if necessary.

calibre should be discovered. The next few days will show Manager Gray whether Sprague, Carr, Fryer or Gray have the goods for a steady berth in the Lowell infield.

With "Shorty" Dee at third base the shortstop position is the only place where a big leaguer could slip in. Gray, and the writer as well swear by Dee at the hot corner. He is not the spectacular player that many clubs possess, but his work throughout the season is far above the average minor league third sacker and he is a great little man to have on a ball club.

Wacub a Wonder

Wacub looked great yesterday. Although he had been in the train for nearly a week, coming on here from California, the big catcher got right

With a whoop and a roar the "big league" baseball season has opened, and the heart of the fan wavered warm. The illustration shows opening success at two of the inaugural contests. The top photo shows Eddie Murphy at bat into a uniform and took the first ones sent at him by the various pitchers, with an easy grace that stamped him at once as a wonderful batsman.

The ex-Wichita player came up to the top of the Sun building yesterday morning to look over the city where he will spend the present season. He's a big fellow, quiet, reserved and with a set of ivory which "Rilly" Burke says used to make the negroes jealous down south.

Wacub is not his real name, he informed us. Wacub is the way his family is known, but he signed his first professional league contract in a hurry, he said, and left out the "h."

Since that time he has always been known as Wacub and signs that way. However, regardless of his name, the husky Californian is same catcher.

Temple a Hitter

Pitcher Temple, the player received by the Lowell club from Pittsfield in exchange for Capt. Harry Aubrey of last year's team, is a big fellow and some heavier from all accounts. He is also a slugger of the first water and broke up several games in the Eastern association last season with home run clouts. Gray may be able to work him in as a pinch hitter if he is retained on the roster as a regular.

The Diamond Spring club of Lawrence claiming to be one of the strongest semi-professional teams in the state would like one or two games for April 20 and 25th with any fast team of this city, South Ends, Graniteville, or Westford preferred. Please reply to Charles Haaster, 308 High street, Lawrence, Mass. Here's a chance for good games on the above dates.

The Bunting Baseball team will start practice Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds and want all the players to report as they have several hard games in view with the fastest teams in the state. Last year they won seven out of last seven games and hope to better their record this year. Their home grounds are the new Bunting grounds and some fast games are assured the fans.

The Royal R. team of this city would like to play some 17-year-old club on April 25th, the Collinsville, St. Columbian and the Busters preferred. Send challenges to this paper or telephone 2201-M for dates.

Come on, you 15-year-old boys, and accept the challenge that the Belvidere A. C. lays at you. They claim that the Riversides and the Concordia will not play them and would be glad to get one of the above mentioned teams on the diamond and show them up. Their manager is H. Matthews, 262 Fayette street.

Ah, this looks like it. The Middlets, a rival team, says that the Belvideres will be easy kams for them if they can get a game with them. They would also like to play the Altar Boys of the Immaculate Conception church. This will either make the Belvidere team play the Middlets or admit they were only blinling.

The Cubs of Belvidere are not bashful in saying they are the real champions of Belvidere and anyone doubting their word will send challenges to Donald MacFadyen, 163 Andover street.

Third Anniversary Concert and Dance Held Last Evening

With the balcony of Associate hall filled with interesting spectators, a large number of members and friends of Lowell lodge, 618, Local Order of Moose, danced through a well arranged dancing program last evening and listened to several excellent concert numbers, the occasion being the third anniversary concert and dance of the order.

The inclement weather had hardly any effect on the attendance nor did it dampen the spirits of the many people, young and old, who took part in the splendid program. The hall was prettily decorated with vari-colored lighting, and the stage presented a most attractive appearance.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the program opened with a number by Minor's orchestra. This was followed by an exhibition of the Highland fling by Miss Greta McKelvey, and a song by Edw. Handley and the Honey Boy Minstrels made a pleasing closing number. General dancing followed and continued until midnight with the exception of a short intermission during which refreshments were served.

The officers of the dance were: General manager, John E. MacCall-

WEETAMOOSE HELD DANCE

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR CONDUCTED BY POPULAR CLUB AT PAWBUCKET BOAT HOUSE

With the litheness and grace of the Weetamoose name they have adopted, the members of the Weetamoose club and their friends gathered about the floor of the Pawbuckett boat house last evening at the annual dancing party of that prepossessing group of young men. Despite the rain, a large number of them were on hand to enjoy the pleasures of the dance, and thus testified their appreciation of the efforts which the club had made, now and in the past, to entertain their friends.

Beneath garlands of green, under strains of "May's" waltz and two-step played by Doyle's orchestra, the young people tripped the measures of the dance with fascinating gracefulness. Never before, so it seemed from the light of their faces, had so enjoyable a party been held in the quaint old ballroom. Possibly their pleasure was enhanced by the "comfy" feeling which they experienced on listening to the "Patler, patter on the window pane," and on realizing that it dismally prevailed without, cheerfulness prevailed within. And so they danced and danced again until the sun of the violinist wearied, the fingers of the pianist grew heavy and the hands of the xylophonist lost their liveliness. But when this had come to pass, the time for the last cars had arrived so the Weetamoose and their friends journeyed to their different lodges feeling that they had had a glorious time.

To the painstaking work of the following committee, as well as to the individual efforts of every member of the club is the success of the party attributed.

Beneath garlands of green, under strains of "May's" waltz and two-step played by Doyle's orchestra, the young people tripped the measures of the dance with fascinating gracefulness. Never before, so it seemed from the light of their faces, had so enjoyable a party been held in the quaint old ballroom. Possibly their pleasure was enhanced by the "comfy" feeling which they experienced on listening to the "Patler, patter on the window pane," and on realizing that it dismally prevailed without, cheerfulness prevailed within. And so they danced and danced again until the sun of the violinist wearied, the fingers of the pianist grew heavy and the hands of the xylophonist lost their liveliness. But when this had come to pass, the time for the last cars had arrived so the Weetamoose and their friends journeyed to their different lodges feeling that they had had a glorious time.

To the painstaking work of the following committee, as well as to the individual efforts of every member of the club is the success of the party attributed.

WOMAN VICTIM OF APHASIA

NEW MILFORD, Conn., April 16.—A young woman about 21 years old, well dressed, was taken in charge last night by the authorities as an apparent victim of aphasia. The woman is unable to tell her name or anything concerning herself. The only intelligible words uttered is "Torrington," which leads the authorities to believe that she either lives there or has friends there.

The woman first attracted attention by asking for something to eat at a house in the outskirts of the town.

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR CONDUCTED BY POPULAR CLUB AT PAWBUCKET BOAT HOUSE

With the litheness and grace of the Weetamoose name they have adopted, the members of the Weetamoose club and their friends gathered about the floor of the Pawbuckett boat house last evening at the annual dancing party of that prepossessing group of young men. Despite the rain, a large number of them were on hand to enjoy the pleasures of the dance, and thus testified their appreciation of the efforts which the club had made, now and in the past, to entertain their friends.

Beneath garlands of green, under strains of "May's" waltz and two-step played by Doyle's orchestra, the young people tripped the measures of the dance with fascinating gracefulness. ## BLOODIEST BATTLE IN MEXICAN REVOLUTION

SAN PEDRO DE LAS COLONIAS, Coahuila, April 15, via Torreon, April 16.—A survey of the battlefields of the last week shows that the battle for possession of this city was the bloodiest of the revolution.

The battle was at its climax Saturday and Monday and on the last day the rebel loss in wounded alone was 650 men. In all 1200 rebels were wounded so seriously as to require hospital treatment during the engagement. The rebel dead may never be known owing to the wide area covered by the battle.

The federal loss was at least 3500 killed, wounded, prisoners and dispersed. By dispersed is meant those federals who were separated from their commands and fled, individually or in small detachments to the hills or into the desert, probably to perish there for lack of food and water. Twelve hundred regulars were captured by the constitutionalists and mustered into the rebel ranks. A number of so-called volunteers, or "red flaggers" were captured and executed.

All the prisoners, including one major, three captains and ten lieutenants are being sent to Torreon.

The last day's fighting was begun with the Herrera and Benavides brigades attacking from the south while Villa with two brigades and General Contreras charged from the west. Gen. Ortega and Hernandez attacked from the east.

This was at 5 o'clock in the afternoon after ten hours of terrific fighting. In the streets 300 federal dead were found. The presence of General Velasco who evacuated Torreon April 2 at San Pedro was a surprise to Villa. He learned from the prisoners that when the federal generals, Demouré and Mass were driven from the town last week they sent word of Velasco, then at Parras, 60 miles south, that they were in danger of being surrounded.

Velasco, by forced marches, succeeded in joining them April 10, at Benavides Junction, only a few miles from here. Later the troops of Gen. Arguedas and Gen. Campo came up and the rebel garrison then here was driven out April 11. That night Villa with 5000 reinforcements and 20 field pieces arrived and began an attack which culminated Monday in the flight of the federals.

Failure of the rebel column assigned to the attack from the north to arrive on time probably saved the federals from annihilation.

The assault was met by a withering artillery fire. The federals were all but surrounded and fought desperately, their fire tearing great gaps through the rebel ranks. They fought over a line 20 miles in length, but gradually were forced toward the center of the city. Their escape was through the north, left open by the non-arrival of the troops assigned to that position.

AMERICANS CAPTURED

PROMISES TO SALUTE THE AMERICAN FLAG

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Huerta has promised Charge O'Shaughnessy to salute the American flag in apology for the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico. The news was received at the White House today just as Secretary Bryan and Acting Chairman Shively of the senate foreign relations committee went into conference with President Wilson. Unless Huerta changes his mind the crisis promises to pass over within the next 24 hours.

"With smiling faces Senator Shively and Secretary Bryan came from the White House conference.

Situation Encouraging
"The president has some very interesting news," said Senator Shively. "The situation is highly encouraging," said Secretary Bryan.

"Then it was made known that despatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy had described his conference with Huerta last night as 'very cordial and satisfactory' and officials said they were convinced that unless the charge had misinterpreted Huerta's intentions there was no doubt that compliance with the American demands for apology would be forthcoming within the next few hours and that the crisis would be passed.

"The text of the despatches was not made public.

Huerta Yields to Washington

Other despatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy were expected today but both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were convinced by the despatches already at hand that Huerta had yielded to the pressure from Washington and the despatch of the fleet on both coasts to back up the demands.

Diplomatic representatives in Mexico City under orders from their home offices anxious to avert a break had pressed Huerta to yield and Mexicans in the United States had added their plea for apology would be the best thing for Mexico.

"The situation is very encouraging," said Secretary Bryan after he received messages from Charge O'Shaughnessy in which General Huerta's attitude was described as yielding. Mr. Bryan and Acting Chairman Shively of the senate foreign relations committee both emerged from the White House smiling.

Warships May Turn Back

Unofficially it was stated that if the salute were fired some of the American warships now speeding to Mexican waters would be turned back.

Officials pointed out that at all occasions when the Americans had saluted the flag of other nations as a result of difficulties at sea, a salute in response had been fired. The only question involved in Huerta's condition was whether a salute of response would constitute recognition, but it was pointed out that the Washington government considers recognition a matter of intent in each case and would not so regard an acknowledgment of Huerta's salute.

Some officials declared that questions of recognition were no more involved in the demand by the United States for a salute from Huerta than in acknowledging a salute from him.

The disposition of the administration is understood to be to increase the naval forces in Mexican waters somewhat, even after the salute is fired, so that in such an event only part of the ships now steaming south would be turned back.

It was authoritatively stated that the only point remaining to be determined was the number of guns and that this would be speedily agreed upon. At the state, war and navy department officials considered the crisis passed.

Just about the time Mr. O'Shaughnessy's despatches were being laid before the president, Charge Algara, representing Huerta here was advised that some despatches had been received, but was not fully informed of their nature. He was given to understand that they brought favorable news.

Feeling of Gratification

Word of the promised rift in the storm clouds spread quickly to the capital where the house foreign affairs committee had just adopted a resolution sustaining President Wilson in his attitude. Several resolutions were proposed, but one voting to sustain the president was adopted unanimously. The resolution will not be taken before the house unless the crisis should not clear up finally and Mr. Wilson should find it necessary to lay the situation before congress. In the senate and house generally there was a mingled feeling of gratification and relief. Some officials because of their long familiarity with the evasiveness of Huerta were not inclined to be too sanguine over the despatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy. Privately they said they would be convinced when the salute actually was fired. Others who knew of the great pressure brought upon Huerta did not question that the dictator had seen the wisdom of yielding.

Those officials who knew the language of the communication Charge O'Shaughnessy has been presenting were sure Huerta had been convinced that if he did not yield the American government would compel him to do so by force.

The last vestige of any suspicion he may have had that the United States was bluffing was said to have been removed by messages from his representatives in Washington telling him that President Wilson was thoroughly aroused and meant to force the issue to the end. It became known that Huerta had been led to believe that his own statement of apology last Saturday was ample redress, but when President Wilson was apprised of the situation he was not satisfied and demanded a salute.

Senator Shively said it was the international custom to return such a salute as is demanded from the Huerta government.

"Such return salute," he added, "could in no way be considered as a recognition of the Huerta regime."

EUROPEAN POWERS ADVISE HUERTA TO YIELD TO THE UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, April 16.—European powers today were advising Huerta to apologize to the United States at once and end a situation which threatens grave consequences.

Friends in the United States of the Mexican dictator also were assuring him that unless a salute was fired to the American flag the seizure of the ports of Tampico and Vera Cruz and a blockade of Mexico by the American fleet was the Washington program.

President Wilson and other American officials also were developments while the fighting ships and the marines were hurrying down the Atlantic and Pacific coasts to Mexican waters.

Pressure on Huerta is being brought not alone by Charge O'Shaughnessy but by the diplomatic representatives of other nations in Mexico City.

U. S. Means Business

Friends of Huerta in the United States, Mexicans and others have telegraphed him that for the best interests of Mexico the salute should be fired. They have advised him that the United States "means business" and that there is ample precedent for the salute without loss of national dignity.

They pointed out that the United States once saluted the flag of Spain and the flag of Brazil.

White House officials had nothing to say on the general situation beyond denying emphatically published reports that President Wilson was displeased with Charge O'Shaughnessy for his close association with General Huerta.

Secretary Tumulty said the president had always spoken of the American charge in a most complimentary manner and realized the difficulty of his position.

Wilson Stays at Post

The messages from Charge O'Shaughnessy apparently no longer are being delayed or intercepted. White House officials said they were coming through with regularity.

John Lind was at the state department again conferring with Secretary Bryan.

No advices were received either at the state department or the Mexican embassy of the attitude of Huerta, who is understood to be consulting members of the Mexican senate.

President Wilson cancelled traveling reservations for tonight for White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where he planned to join Mrs. Wilson. He may go tomorrow.

LONDON PAPERS CRITICIZE WILSON FOR ULTIMATUM TO HUERTA

LONDON, April 16.—Contrasting the action of President Wilson and rejection with the arrest of American bluejackets at Tampico with what was done when William S. Benton, the British ranch owner was killed at Juarez, the Manchester Guardian, one of the leading liberal newspapers says today:

"Intervention which murder and robbery failed to bring about is apparently to be the punishment for a merely symbolic slight in American dignity."

Expressing its admiration for the ability and motives of President Wilson, the Guardian says it is impossible to suppress doubts and misgivings on his Mexican policy. It continues:

"Why should Villa murder impunity and General Huerta be chastised with the whole strength of the right arm of the United States for a mere breach of international politeness? It should be far easier to bring Villa to a better frame of mind than to teach Huerta manners. In the one case it would have been enough to threaten the rebels that the embargo on the exportation of arms and ammunition from the United States would be reimposed but what sort of guarantee is there that the capture of Tampico by the American fleet will either mend Huerta's manner or relieve the hardships of foreign subjects in Mexico, or help any of the interests President Wilson is anxious to serve."

FORMER SAILOR ANXIOUS TO GET INTO ACTION APPEALS TO SEC. DANIELS

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Anxious to get into action, C. H. Campbell of Jasper station, Texas, today appealed to Secretary Daniels for reinstatement in the navy. Campbell first enlisted at Dallas in 1908 and was honorably discharged with a good record in 1912. In a telegram Campbell says:

"Please reinstate me in the navy at once and send me to the fleet most liable to be in action. I was discharged Oct. 2, 1912, as first class hospital apprentice. Have doctor's certificate as to physical ability. Give me a chance."

The navy department today authorized his re-enlistment.

PRES. WILSON SAYS ORDERS TO FLEET HAVE NOT CHANGED—WILL RETURN SALUTE

WASHINGTON, April 16.—President Wilson describing his advances from Mexico City as very encouraging told callers late today that there was no known precedent against returning a salute and that in the natural course the United States will return a salute when fired.

The president held that no recognition would be involved in returning Huerta's salute and that when it was fired the incident would be closed, apologies having been made for previous offenses.

Mr. Wilson denied that at any time during the negotiations prior to today had Huerta offered to fire any salute, though some subordinate officials did attempt to sound out the American government on the question of saluting the Dolphin. That was regarded as a private salute to the Dolphin and not to the American flag and was declined.

The president made it clear that orders to the Atlantic and Pacific fleets had not been changed.

No time limit had been set for the salute, according to the president.

ENTIRE PACIFIC FLEET ORDERED TO PROCEED TO MEXICO

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States today moved the American fleet.

HUERTA'S OFFER

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Late this afternoon Secretary Bryan despatched a communication to Charge O'Shaughnessy. Its contents were not revealed here but it is understood to be an acceptance of Huerta's offer for a salute which will be acknowledged by the American ships.

MORE GREEKS COMING

It is believed that another contingent of Greeks will arrive in this city tomorrow or in a couple of days for the steamship Athena of the Greek-American line is scheduled to land in New York today with a large number of immigrant passengers aboard.

Letters have been received by local Greeks to the effect that many more Greeks were on their way to America as usual, it is believed the bulk of the immigrants will come to Lowell and Manchester, N. H. It is reported that there are several women among the newcomers.

CLEVELAND CRIPPLED

CHICAGO, April 16.—More hard luck struck the crippled Cleveland Americans today when the club physician ordered Manager Birmingham to stay out of the game for three weeks and sent Pitcher Steen home with a broken finger. Physicians declared the Cleveland manager was suffering internal injuries in addition to his strained muscles and said he might be out of the game for months.

BIDS ON DEPARTMENT SUPPLIES

Bids will open in the purchasing agent's office at city hall Saturday morning on 6000 bags of cement, in bags, for the street department and 500 barrels for the sewer department, together with 50,000 hard burned brick for the sewer department. Bids for 16 dozen shovels for the sewer department and a car of oats for the street department will open Saturday morning.

Third Edition THE HADLEY SCHOOL BUILDING CONDEMNED

The Under Street school in Middlesex Village has been condemned and Commissioner James E. Donnelly, whose department includes public buildings, will notify the school board either to repair or tear down the school building as it is a menace to public safety. The school is not occupied and has not been occupied for a long time, but its condition is such as to render it dangerous for children playing in that vicinity and for passersby.

There is some question, however, as to the city's right to remove the building inasmuch as the land upon which it stands has reverted back to the original owners, the heirs of Cyrus Baldwin, who gave the land for the school with the understanding that the building was abandoned or used for other than school purposes the land would revert back to the family in view of the fact that the school has been abandoned, the land, of course, has reverted back and the Baldwin heirs, who live in Woburn, might object to the city trespassing on the land for the purpose of removing the building.

MILK VERY GOOD SNOW ON COMMONS

Inspector Master Says Supply is Better Than Usual

Asked today how the milk is averaging, Milk Inspector Master replied that the average is very good indeed. "Of course," he said, "we expect good milk at this season of the year, but I think it is exceptionally good at the present time."

"The time to look out for a fall in the quality of the milk is when the producers turn their cattle out to pasture. The pasture time is not far away and we will have to keep a close watch on the milk. The average dealer does not want to deal in milk that is not up to the standard, but the producers are liable to grow a bit careless and one can hardly blame them when one thinks of how very little they make at the business. The price is so low that it is almost impossible for the farmer to do better than to break even."

The conversation turned to the food value of milk and Mr. Master produced a very interesting leaflet sent him by the Massachusetts dairy bureau. It was stated on the leaflet that any price expended for a quart of milk buys the same food value that averages to cost 22 cents in the following list: 3-4 pound lean beef at 20 cents, 15 cents; 8 eggs at 26 cents per dozen, 24 cents; 3 pounds fresh codfish at 12 cents, 36 cents; 2 pounds chicken at 19 cents, 38 cents; 4-5 pound pork loin at 15 cents, 12 cents; 3-5 pound ham at 20 cents, 12 cents; 1 pint oysters at 20 cents, 20 cents; average, 22 cents.

Here are a few more tips on milk from the same leaflet:

It is cheap.

It is nutritious.

It is easily digestible.

It is the best food for babies (mother's milk excepted).

It should form the major portion of the child's diet up to school age.

The average school child should consume at least two glasses per day. Many adults would be benefited by the use of more milk and less meat.

More milk used in cooking would add the cheapest nutrition of its kind. Proper nutrition conduces to efficiency and long life—in other words, to good health.

STREET DEPARTMENT MADE BIG SAVING, BUT SUPERINTENDENT OF PARKS WAS CRITICIZED

John Woodbury Kernan, superintendent of parks, allows that he has saved Charles J. Morse, commissioner of streets, at least $1000 by allowing the street department to dump snow on the North and South commons. "I know I have been criticized because of the great amount of dirt thrown on the commons with the snow," said Mr. Kernan, "but to allow the snow to remain there until it melted meant a great saving for Mr. Morse. We are all working for the city and I believe in co-operation. Mr. Morse has always been very willing to co-operate with me and I believe that one good turn deserves another. We have removed about all of the dirt left by the snow on the South common and we are working on the North common. We have already removed over 50 loads of dirt."

MATRIMONIAL

Nathan P. Lamson, 38, and Gertrude Stanley, 46, both of this city, were married at Nashua, N. H., on Tuesday of the present week, by George F. Jackson, justice of the peace.

Want Week's Vacation
At a regular meeting of the New Bedford Textile council some of the delegates brought up the matter of trying to get the manufacturers to grant the operatives a week's vacation this coming summer, and it was voted to instruct the delegates to return to their union and ask them to take action on the question of requiring the manufacturers for a week's vacation. After all the textile unions have held meetings, a special meeting of the textile council will be held, to take definite action on the question.

Carpenters Get Increase
An increase in wages of four cents per hour, and a revision of the scale of working hours to provide a Saturday half-holiday, has been granted to the carpenters of New Bedford by the New Bedford Master Builders' association. The new schedule of wages and work hours will go into effect May 1, according to the announcement made this morning by the secretary of the builders' association, in compliance with instructions given him at a meeting of that organization last night.

Under the new scale of wages the carpenters will receive 45 cents an hour instead of 41 as at present, and the weekly scale of hours will be instead of 48 as at present. The men will work eight hours the first five days of the week and four hours on Saturday, and though they will labor four hours less than at present, they will receive $1.50 for a full week's work instead of $1.65 which they now get for 48 hours' work.

NEW BEDFORD WEAVERS
Address Letter to Manufacturers Which Threatens a Shut-Down—Letter Follows

The Weavers' association of New Bedford, in an open letter addressed to its members, threatens the manufacturers with a shut-down of the mills this summer if certain alleged wrongs are not righted. The call is as follows:

Fellow Members: At the next general meeting of the New Bedford Cotton Weavers' Protective association the members of our organization should come and explain the conditions in the local mills with an open mind. The conditions of some of the mills are unbearable at some of the manufacturers' plants in this city at the present time, and the weavers coming to this office every day to complain about the way the manufacturers are trying to rob the weavers in the winter months. But, Mr. Manufacturer, you don't want your mills shut down this summer for another eight weeks, do you? The weavers at the present time are working under protest, against the grading system, and some of the manufacturers have started to fine the weavers again to the amount of $1 to $1.50. The average pay for the weavers in this city at the present time is about $1.50 per week. There are some of the prices that are being paid at the present time, that the weavers have brought to this office from a 40-inch loom:

Style 72, 180 pick, price $1.35 per cut, 62 to 64 yards per cut.
Style 524, 140 pick, price $1.05 per cut, 62 to 64 yards per cut.
Style 521, 150 pick, price .95c per cut, 64 yards per cut.
Style 72, 120 pick, price .45c per cut, 64 yards per cut.
Style 762, 170 pick, price $1.11 per cut, 64 yards per cut.
Style 762, 180 pick, price $1.05 per cut, 64 yards per cut.

The officials of this association wish to draw the attention to the fact that better prices are being paid in some of the mills in this city for weaving tasks, and still the manufacturers here claim that they want skilled help. And still the manufacturers of our city will allow the overseers of the weavers to bulldoze this same skilled help, and if the weavers have any complaint to make in the winter months to the overseers, the answer is that if the weavers don't like the way that they are treated, to get out.

Another complaint that the weavers are having in the weavers' office is that the different book-keepers in the weave rooms in the city are book-keeping the weavers' pay on cuts, therefore trimming the weavers' pay again out of the small amount of wages that they can earn in the mills at the present time. Mr. Manufacturers, wake up, and take a little more interest in your help and don't be selfish. The weavers at the present time are getting ready to take another vacation this summer, providing conditions don't change. The Weavers' union officials warn all the weavers that are outside of the ranks to send in their names for membership before the next strike.

Yours on behalf of the executive committee,

Tom Thornley, President.

Among those present were the pastor of the parish, Rev. J. H. Racette, O. M. L., Ph. D., Rev. E. J. A. Chaput, O. M. L., Rev. Armand Baron, O. M. L., Rev. Charles Denzot, O. M. L., Rev. Antoine Amyot, O. M. L., Rev. Arthur Bernier, O. M. L., as well as several Marist brothers. Much credit for the artistic success of the affair is due to Rev. Bro. Bernardin and Wilfred P. Calais, Jr., who had charge of the staging of the play. The presentation will be repeated this evening.

"Le Coupable" deals with the high life led by a young man, Gustave Barotte, and he is seen in the company of young men who, like himself, lead a spendthrift life, despite the fact that he has to borrow the francs to keep him going. Gustave rapidly piles up enormous debts and even in his work at the bank he proves inefficient. As a result of several serious errors he is discharged and within a few hours he is back in the street, in the act of committing a theft at the bank and in his rage he kills the owner of the establishment. The young man returns to his home and after some time he confesses to his father, who supplies him with sufficient money to leave the country. The play closes with the father saying his son is not the guilty party, but he, the father, is, in view of the fact that he has allowed his son to lead a free and unrestricted life.

The play is very interesting throughout and the parts were all well sustained. Those taking part were: W. P. Calais, Jr., Arthur Giroux, George Poirier, George Ledoux, Arthur Lamoureux, Ernest J. Dupont, E. S. Desmarais, J. A. N. Chretien, John E. Richard, Wilmer A. Dragon, Rosaire Couillard, Antonio Berger, Achille Gaudin, Cyriel Desmarais, Paul Choquette, Victor Hamel, Albert Sparks, N. J. Vigeant, Rene L'Esperance, E. J. Larochelle and others.

The comedy, "Apartment a Louer," a 30-minute sketch, proved a very lively affair and was well received. The parts were sustained by E. J. Dupont, W. P. Calais, Arthur Lamoureux, W. A. Dragon and J. A. N. Chretien and E. J. Larochelle. Between the acts comic songs were sung by E. S. Desmarais, while a comic duet was rendered by Messrs. Calais and Larochelle. E. J. Dupont also rendered a musical selection. Bailey's orchestra supplied music during the evening.

PROCLAIM MARTIAL LAW

State Troops Fire Volley Over Heads of Jockeys Who Disregarded Order of Court

TULSA, Okla., April 16.—Disregarding a restraining order issued by the superior court, state troops yesterday took possession of the Tulsa fair grounds, proclaimed under martial law by Gov. Lee Cruce, and when an attempt was made to run the races carded for the afternoon, fired a volley over the heads of the jockeys.

With this show of force and the declaration of Frank M. Canton, adjutant-general, who was in personal command of the troops, that if another race were started the militiamen would fire to kill the horses, officials of the Tulsa Jockey club ordered the spring race meeting abandoned, at least temporarily.

Yesterday's action culminated a contest over the right of "bookmakers" to operate at the track.

The next move will be the hearing of habeas corpus proceedings instituted in behalf of several men arrested by the state troops yesterday.

SCHOONER STRUCK IN GALE
SEABRIGHT, N. J., April 16.—In the heavy gale last night an unidentified three-masted schooner struck near here and was carried a mile down the coast to Galilee, where she stuck fast, flashing signals of distress, and exploding rockets. West End and North Long Branch stations sent life saving crews. Crowds were attracted to the beach by the schooner's signals.

By midnight the life savers had shot four lines across the schooner. To their surprise the lines were not made fast on board. From this it was considered possible that the crew had perished or, lashed to the masts to keep from being swept overboard, were unable to reach the lines.

THINK BRIDE MURDERED

CORONER'S JURY DISCREDITS SUICIDE IN NORWAY, ME. TRAGEDY
FOUND DEAD WITH GUN

NORWAY, Me., April 16.—Instead of accepting a theory of suicide which was advanced, a coroner's jury last night reported that Mrs. Ethel M. Cummings, 17 years of age, a bride of only 15 months, met her death at the hands of an unknown person. Mrs. Cummings died from a gun shot wound at her father's house in Albany, near here, yesterday. When her mother, Mrs. William Adams, called neighbors to the house, saying that the young woman had committed suicide, they found the body on the floor of the sitting room with a shot-gun beside it. The gun was one which had been kept in the house.

Mrs. Adams said she believed that her daughter had become temporarily insane through dwelling on stories of a neighbor's suicide a year ago. Coroner Albert P. Bassett, impaneled a jury today and the results of an autopsy and of the investigation of circumstances surrounding the death were placed before it. After considering the case all day the jurors last night agreed that the young woman had come to her death "by a gunshot wound at the hands of some person unknown."

Neither the coroner nor the medical examiner would supplement this verdict with any explanation last night. Mrs. Cummings was married in January, 1913, to Sherman Cummings of Groveland, Vt. She had been living with her parents recently, but was preparing to rejoin her husband at Bethel,

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Delightful Comedy Enjoyed by Large Audience at the Opera House Last Evening

"Oh, there's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

This quotation, the concluding line in the comedy, "Peg o' My Heart," which was given at the Opera House last evening, sent home a large audience with memories of one of the best shows of its kind ever given in this city. It also eloquently expressed the sentiment of the play.

"Peg o' My Heart" is a clean, merry little comedy of right living, with human touches and, while last night's company was not the original cast, all members played their respective roles satisfactorily, and their work was well appreciated by those present. It is a refreshing piece done up in an irresistible Irish wrapper.

"Peg," the leading character of the comedy, was played by Miss Marion Dentler. Her work was the feature of the evening and she captivated the audience from start to finish. She is an exceptionally clever woman and, though called upon to depict many various characters and scenes, she handled all with simplicity.

The role of "Jerry" or "Sir Gerald" requires a peculiar combination of characteristics and these are well supplied by Cecil Owen. He gave a perfect interpretation of the role.

"Alaric," another important role, was well portrayed by Harold Hendee. He's a real English lad, with true accent, and his acting was all that could be desired.

"Mrs. Chichester" was played by Florence Carrett. She made a dignified and clever mother and took good care of her part. "Ethel," her daughter, was finely acted by Crosby Little.

"Jarvis," the butler, was the part assigned to John E. Trever, and he did it well.

"Montgomery Hawkes," played by Reginald Carrington, was good. "Christian Bent," the villain, was taken by L. C. Carroll, and "the maid" was portrayed by Violet Moore.

FAST DAY IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., April 16.—For the first time, so far as available records show the legally established holiday of fast day officially proclaimed by Gov. Samuel D. Parker for today passes without recognition by any religious service in the state capital. The cessation of business is practically complete, but otherwise the day is without observance. Fast day usually marks the opening of the baseball season in New Hampshire, and both professional and school games had been scheduled for today but the grounds are covered with snow, making play impossible.

We received from our suit buyer now in New York a night lettergram asking us to make preparation for a big sale on Saturday of Spring Coats, Suits, Skirts and Dresses, which he has purchased from three large factories at FIFTY CENTS ON THE DOLLAR.

YOU'LL PROFIT BY OUR SAVING

of intrigue and adventure in three reels, entitled "In the Hands of a Woman." This splendid offering will give you a glimpse of the unusual precautions taken by the government officials to safeguard diplomatic messages and papers of state. It will carry you through a maze of adventures in which a young French ambassador, bound on a secret diplomatic mission, is the hero. You will be astonished that the time again by the daring feats displayed by the principals in this powerful drama, because they are continually taking desperate chances in order to give life and action to their parts. "In the Hands of a Woman," as a feature production, is far above the ordinary, and is in every respect a true Warner feature.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The tenseness of the big situation in "Flashlight Graze" at the B. F. Keith theatre, this week, is testified to in the startling stillness which pervades the theatre as the big detective is forced to decide between love and duty. It is gripping and is splendidly done by C. H. O'Donnell and an able supporting company. Early the second feature on the bill is "Wonders of the Air," as given by Miss Lettice, assisted by Jeanette. It is an act recently brought to this country from Paris, where it was rated as one of the best things of its kind ever seen. The two women, though almost identical in size, are regular human dynamoes. Devine and Williams offer a very classy comedy-musical turn, and the Four Entertainers are male singers and comedians. Knight and Moore in patter and music are as entertaining all the time and Frank Markey, banjoist, is one of the best ever seen here. Lemaze & Mack, comely acrobats, upon the bill, and the Pathé Weekly closes it. Good seats may be secured in advance. Phone 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"The Man on the Box," which is being so capably presented this week by the Merrimack Square Theatre Players, is scoring one of the real successes of the season. The play itself is most commendable, while its presentation by Walter Scott Weeks, Miss Gladys Malvern and the other members of a most capable cast, is meritorious. On Saturday afternoon the players will hold a public reception on the stage and the public generally is invited to attend. Next week the play will be "Her Only Son," a wonderfully interesting and whole some story of the love of a boy for his mother. Tickets are now on sale for next week. Place your name on the subscription list and get reservations on your favorite seats. It costs no more.

THE OWL THEATRE

Today is the last chance to see the photographic reproductions of Sarah Bernhardt in "Camille" at the Owl. Mme. Gabrielle Rejane in "Mme. Sans-gene," a subtle comedy by Sardou, is the other special attraction engaged in connection with "Camille." These plays have been shown to crowded houses during the last three days, and yesterday a change of the regular program took place. For Friday and Saturday extra features have been booked among them are "The Perils of Pauline," second installment, "The Mutual Girl" in her weekly adventure, "The Pathé Weekly for the conversative element, and an uproarious Keystone comedy for the fun-lovers, besides the regular five-reel program. Has it dawned on you yet that "it will be good" at the Owl, so "get wise."

HUERTA AT BAY

President Wilson's patience in dealing with Mexico seems to be exhausted. The various indications to the United States, the murder of many of her citizens, and recently the arrest of a U. S. warship on the coast, the uttering of threats to the United States government, have convinced him in a situation which calls for some action. Huerta, who has been some time in power, has been some time in power, has been some time in power.

President Wilson's patience in dealing with Mexico seems to be exhausted. The various indications to the United States, the murder of many of her citizens, and recently the arrest of a U. S. warship on the coast, the uttering of threats to the United States government, have convinced him in a situation which calls for some action. Huerta, who has been some time in power, has been some time in power, has been some time in power.

The honor and dignity of the United States must be maintained, says the president, and it is the sentiment of the country is behind him.

This is certainly a crisis in our relations with Mexico that was unexpected; but one thing may be assumed, to wit, that if the United States goes into Mexico for the purpose of intervention, it goes not to quiet a part of the country but the entire republic from the Gulf to the Pacific, including Southern California, which according to reports Mexican dispatchers have been willing to trade off to Japan. To intervene and restore peace throughout Mexico would be a most costly and a stupendous task; but if undertaken by the United States it must be completed at any cost. The Mexican rebellions have been following one another with such frequency that the prospect of any lasting peace is daily becoming more hopeless. The United States does not want Mexico nor the trouble of governing it, much less the task of restoring peace; but if forced to intervene then the work must and will be done with a firm hand regardless of the cost. The inhuman warfare carried on by the contending forces called by whatever name they may be, must be stopped. The citizens of other countries in Mexico must be protected regardless of the nations to which they belong and the United States government in discharging its responsibility under the Monroe doctrine is bound to stop it. Hence the situation at the present time is very tense and it is impossible to tell what the future will bring; but the sentiment among the United States senators and plainly expressed by some of them is, that if the American flag is hoisted in Mexico it will never come down. Meantime while our fleet threatens to capture Vera Cruz and Tampico, General Villa is gaining fresh victories over the federal forces and Huerta is desperately at bay.

THE CHILD LABOR LAW

The child labor law which prohibits the employment of children under sixteen years of age in factories was under discussion in the legislature yesterday and many of the evils of this law were exposed by representatives and people who had suffered loss or injury as a result of its operation. It was alleged that the law had produced a jobless class of children between the ages of fourteen and sixteen who could not work and would not go to school. That is but a mild statement of the actual facts. Anybody who visits the vacant lots or the commons of this city during the day can see gangs of boys shooting craps or playing ball when they should be either at work or at school. Many others, we are informed, frequent pool rooms where they form associations and habits that are not calculated to lead up to an industrious or law-abiding life. While some people believe the law will work out all right in the end, yet this is very doubtful when the majority of cases are considered. It is also a well known fact that in hundreds of cases where boys of this age have been thrown out of work, their mothers have been obliged to go into the mills and earn enough to support those boys in idleness. In such cases the absurdity of the law is very glaring because not only is the mother obliged to undergo great hardships but she is also forced to keep her boys in idleness, which means that they are contracting bad habits around the streets. It is an undoubted fact that while the intent of the law is good its operation injures many and benefits but few.

FOR ANOTHER FIRE SURVEY

The board of trade has taken a step in the right direction in asking the National board of fire underwriters to make another survey of the city of Lowell with a view to discovering any defects in our building laws or in our methods of fire protection. The underwriters association insists upon methods of fire prevention which are very valuable. In their last survey the inspectors made several important suggestions which we understand have, with few exceptions, been carried out. One of these was the laying of a sewer and water main under the Merrimack river so as to provide against the possibility of a break in the one which has conveyed our water supply under the river for many years past. This was accomplished last year although the new main has not been used. It is then, however, to be used whenever needed.

In view of the number of serious fires that have occurred in other cities it behooves us to take every precaution against conflagration that might result in serious loss of life and property. To this end the proposed survey by the National Underwriters association cannot fail to bring about some improvements.

MILITANT SUFFRAGETTE PLAGUE

The militant suffragettes are the plague of England. No public official is safe from their attacks and their abuse, and no public building can be protected against their arson squad. They have now adopted a new method of confounding the courts of justice. They set up a yelling and a caterwauling just as soon as their case is called so that nobody can be heard. A sentence for contempt of court would seem to be the proper thing to stop them; but they simply scoff at the idea of being punished. They have openly defied the courts while destroying property and menacing the lives of peaceable citizens. They seem to be so obsessed by the fanatical idea that they can compel the government to surrender forthwith that it is useless to appeal to them. They are injuring the cause of woman suffrage everywhere and fast, convincing the world that it would not be safe to place political power in the hands of women capable of adopting such methods in their advocacy of reform.

SHOULD SPEAK ENGLISH

The Sun has repeatedly advised the Poles and other foreign nationalities in this city to learn to speak the English language as soon as possible. They can do this quite easily or at least without great difficulty by conversing with their friends in English instead of in their native tongue. The Poles should be encouraged to use the English language as much as possible from the fact that Joseph Conrad, one of the best English novelists of the present day is a native of Poland who did not know a word of English until he was twenty years of age. The ability to converse in English will be a great benefit to foreigners settling in this country and a step towards the still greater advantage of being able to read and write the language.

ARBOR DAY

Saturday, April 25, is to be observed as Arbor Day throughout the commonwealth under a proclamation by Governor Walsh. While so many trees are lost from electric wires, moth pests, and lack of proper care, it is necessary to do something to compensate for the waste by planting new trees that in due time will help to beautify our city and afford hospitable shade during hot weather, a most desirable consideration especially in the thickly settled parts of the city.

Now is the time for those who have the land or the opportunity to start planting a vegetable garden. Men who have the leisure cannot engage in any more healthful occupation than planting a little garden. The man who has had a little experience in farming can raise enough in a small garden to supply his family table with fresh vegetables during the entire summer and autumn. It requires skill, of course, but this is easily obtained from those who know or from books and papers that deal with such matters.

The total cost of the Balkan war to Bulgaria alone is said to be $548,000,000, while the number of lives lost was about seven per cent. of the total adult population. Bulgaria started out well but threw away her prestige through jealousy against Greece and finally paid dearly for her selfishness. But for Bulgaria the Turks might have been driven out of continental Europe.

Public sentiment in New York city is now demanding a speedy trial for Becker. The conviction that Becker is equally guilty with the four gunmen who paid the death penalty is more firmly grounded than ever. Indeed he is regarded as the instigator of the murder and, therefore, the arch conspirator in whose hands the other men were mere tools.

A number of churches have started a publicity campaign with a view to securing larger congregations. We believe in the efficacy of printers' ink but doubt the permanency of the church membership obtained in this way.

SEEN AND HEARD

Try and get some joy out of your hard friends. They are coming back this month and will be glad to see you. Take some notice of them.

A Kansas man was so well pleased with his experience on Good Friday that he declared that he could scarcely wait for a return date in 1915.

No one when garden time comes will intentionally or maliciously permit their chickens to destroy their own or their neighbor's gardens, and no neighbor feels like knocking a chicken over and throwing it over the fence, though the law gives you that right.

The person that tries each day to do a little something that will cause smiles to drive away tears; that will put sunshine into a sad heart; that will in a word make associates better and happier and more cheerful, that person is one of God's noblest of creatures and is a benefactor to all mankind. Smiles and cheerful looks in this world are worth so much. Like the pebble dropped into the lake, they cause the wave to go on and on and on, rippling merrily, and find lodgment in hearts. They are God's best agencies.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside, John Leslie Simpson writes an article about the cooperation between parents and sons particularly in Kansas where the importance of keeping boys on the farms is well recognized. Following is an extract from the article:

"The Kansas Farmer seeks to it that the boy has a certain amount of recreation and pleasure scattered through his days of toil.

"The son of the Kansas farmer is trained along financial lines from childhood on, so when he is ready to start the serious road of life, he doesn't have to plunge in the water, so to speak, without knowing how to swim a stroke.

"A Kansas farmer who has become fairly well off by his own efforts, trained his boy along these lines. When the boy was 12 years old he gave him a pair of colts, the boy to take care of them and help with the other work to pay for their feed. When the boy was 16 the colts had grown into a fine team of work horses. The boy now had some pigs, calves, etc., besides the team, and took a real interest in the farm and the work. By the time he was 18 years old he had nearly enough equipment to farm for himself. He bought another horse with money he had made working for neighbors, got some tools and seeds of harness, and rented 25 acres of land from a neighbor. He helped with the work at home, and farmed a little for himself. Later he rented a quarter section of land. At 21 he has a full set of farming tools, horses, etc., and has lived squarely on his feet. Next year he will farm the home place on 25 acres. Here is a good example of how Kansas farmers save their boys."

How long we lived before we knew, how long we lived and did not know I mean we all of us, I and you, what constitutes a bungalow.

GIFT OF THE BUNGALOW

We knew Queen Anne's and the Mansard type, and various styles built row on row, but when hitting the dreamlike pipe, we'd visions none of a bungalow.

Came Rudyard, Kipling out of the east—And that was 20 years ago—Who told of India's man and beast, And sowed the seeds of the bungalow.

Then here and there the thing took root, And spread like chaff the east winds took; It grew and flourished and now the fruit We're gathering in the bungalow.

It's low and sloping and open wide To perfumes that the jasmynes throw, And happy indeed is the honey bride, Who honeymoon in a bungalow.

So here to Kipling and his kind, When to his list reward he'll go, We hope the judges will all be kind, Because he brought us the bungalow.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

EXPOSING GUNMEN'S BODY

New York Sun: The hideous public spectacle made of the human body in an effort to get money from it is less so was the gathering of East Side crowds about the places where the other funerals were held. It should be part of the penalty for murder that the bodies of persons executed be buried in the jail precincts, and the burial if they desired, but every sort of display or publicity should be prohibited. This is a constitutional right, and the legislature should see to it at the earliest possible opportunity.

RECALL OF JUDGES

Boston Traveler: An organized campaign against the recall of judges, headed by ex-President Taft, seems likely to drive the recall heresy out of New York city. The plan is to enlist lawyers through the country, and as among those who are trained in the principles of law there is practical unanimity against the measure, the movement is likely to be very strong.

DAYS OF ORATORY

Pall Mall Herald: The United States senate is going to continue 15 days in oratory on the canal toll bill. Maybe there will be people who will keep track of the speeches to see if anything has been said that can yet be presented. The rest of the people would cut out the oratory and move for an early vote on the motion before the house.

SHOPPING IN NEW YORK

Brooklyn Times: It is estimated 10,000 Canadian women are shopping in New York city this week, and that seems a whole lot of shopping until it is figured that 10,000 Canadian women are buying spring fashions in New York is equal only to two Canadian cities buying each a paper of pins in a healthy town of 1000 population.

NEW $600,000 HOSPITAL

MAYOR CURLEY AND PRESIDENT LOWELL AT OPENING OF CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL, BROOKLINE

BOSTON, April 16.—The new and beautiful Children's hospital in Longwood avenue, Brookline, erected at a cost of $600,000, was formally opened yesterday afternoon. More than 2000 persons, coming from all parts of the state and beyond, visited the place and sought admission to the simple, but impressive exercises held in the library of the administration building. Francis W. Hume, president of the institution, presided, and after receiving the keys of the building from the hands of Charles A. Coolidge, the architect, introduced the only speakers, Mayor Curley and President Lowell of Harvard university. Both spoke in the highest terms of the new hospital building and the public-spirited citizens who made it possible.

Mayor's Tribute

Mayor Curley said the occasion reminded him of Joseph Butler's poem, "Sail On, Sail On," and after reciting the verses he declared that the great institution, built on the broadest and most humanitarian lines, typified the great advancement which has been made on the pathways of progress.

"I want to express my sincere thanks," he concluded, "to the women and men whose noble and splendid efforts made this hospital possible. They are deserving of the good will and best wishes of every man and woman of this city."

President Lowell referred to the nearness of the new hospital to the Harvard Medical school, declaring that this meant mutual benefit to both. The school, he said, was thus enabled to have its clinics in the hospital, while the hospital in turn was given the advantage of securing all of the latest and most scientific methods and instruments of the school.

"It has been the habit in the school," he said, "to say that the school alone would benefit by the arrangement. This is false. The benefit will be mutual."

Then, speaking of other institutions, President Lowell said that despite the good they accomplished, there was nothing so satisfying as the cures effected in a children's hospital.

Upon the conclusion of the exercises in the library the visitors were shown through the buildings and given every opportunity to inspect the work of the out-patient department of the institution is open to the public and the patients in the old hospital in Huntington avenue will be transferred the end of the week.

The new hospital has beds for about 150.

SICK LAD, DRESSED ONLY IN HIS NIGHT GOWN WALKED SEVERAL BLOCKS IN A SOUND SLEEP

BOSTON, April 16.—Dressed only in his night gown, without shoes or hat, Irving Barlow, the 11-year-old son of Rufus P. He was found lying asleep in a doorway at 33 Essex street by Edward Pollard and turned over to the police, by whom he was taken to his home.

IN THE CHURCHES

The very entertaining circus given by the boys of the Highland territorial church, under the auspices of the Men's club, several weeks ago, was repeated last evening in the vestry of the church to a good sized audience. Acrobats, tumblers and "marvelous performers" combined in creating more than a mere semblance of a real circus. Some of the animals when were put through their paces were quite remarkable, the giraffes being interesting. The parade given at the opening of the performance brought out a lot of special features. A demonstration of first aid work by boys proved new to many. This circus will be given once more tonight, and it will prove to be uncommonly diverting.

At the April social of the High St. church, last night D. L. Page gave an interesting talk on the experience in the Civil war and the battle of Gettysburg. Patriotic songs were sung by Miss Annie Clifford and a chorus choir from North Billerica. The entertainment was directed by Mrs. E. W. Clark. Early in the evening singing was served under the direction of Mrs. John L. Robinson.

A meeting of the Lowell Ministers union was held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, at which interest was shown in the flying squadron campaign for federal temperance which is now being carried on in various sections of the country. This campaign is carried on by means of temperance speakers, who are sent out for the purpose of addressing mass meetings, and it is expected that one of the speakers will soon be secured for this city.

The talk of the afternoon was upon the topic, "What the Bible Means to Me," in which Rev. Charles T. Billings, Rev. N. W. Matthews and Rev. F. G. Alger took part.

Church Federation

The annual meeting of the Lowell Federation of Churches will be held next Monday evening at 7:45 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., at which officers will be elected and other business transacted. Mayor Denis J. Murphy will address the members on "The Church and Good Government." Rep. Victor Jewett will speak on "The Church in Legislation," and W. H. Wilson will talk on "Churches and Civic Betterment." Pastors are requested to announce this meeting to their congregations.

First Spiritualist

A bean supper and an entertainment were held last night at the First Spiritualist church, 111 Middlesex street, under the auspices of the women of the church. The menu had been carefully prepared and was greatly enjoyed by the large number present. Mrs. R. E. Harvey had general charge of the supper and Mrs. Hattie Fletcher presided in the dining room. Arrangements for the evening were made by Mrs. George Heap. The waitresses were Misses Rita Jordan, Mabel Crum, May Hutton, Rebecca Hoyle, Amy Todd and Maud Long. Miss Dorothy Jordan had charge of the tickets.

A delightful entertainment was presented, following the supper, by Misses Daisy Stevens and Grace Cluer, who rendered several pleasing duets and there were songs by Miss Rose Chase, and organ solos by C. N. Cushman.

In spite of the inclement weather, a large attendance of members and friends of the church was present and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

Voigt Street Baptists

The Mizpah class of the Voigt Street Baptist church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Oscar Sanders, 79 Methuen street. Following the business meeting, games were played and refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. F. P. Munn.

MILK CRUSADE BEGAN

WOMEN IN CONFERENCE AT BOSTON DECIDE TO URGE STATE-CONTROLLED INSPECTION

BOSTON, April 16.—A conference in the interests of clean milk legislation held yesterday at the Twentieth Century club under the auspices of the legislative department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's clubs resulted in a decision to wage a state-wide campaign for state-controlled inspection of milk.

The conference was opened by Esther M. Andrews, chairman of the legislative committee of the federation. Mrs. Alfred Lustig, president of the Housewife's league of Providence, R. I., told a large audience, which included delegates from 35 women's clubs, how the women of her city gained a victory in their fight for pure milk.

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, president of the Massachusetts Milk Consumers' association, who is now responsible for the pure milk bill now before the legislature, also spoke.

INDEPENDENCE

OF PHILIPPINES

Strongly Advocated by

Commissioner Manuel

L. Quezon

Spoke Before Cleveland

the Chamber of Industry

CLEVELAND, April 16.—Independence of the Philippines was strongly advocated by Manuel L. Quezon, one of the Philippine commissioners at Washington, in an address last night before the Cleveland Chamber of Industry.

"The duty of the United States to the Philippines, is plain," said Mr. Quezon. "Congress should enact a law giving the Philippines their independence. The reasons are these: Both expressly and by implication, to withdraw its sovereignty from the Philippine Islands—by implication, when upon the declaration of war between the United States and Spain the government of the United States asserted that that war was not waged for territorial aggrandizement or commercial expansion; expressly, in that the past republican and the present democratic administration have both declared it to be the policy of the United States to give the Filipino people their independence when they can establish and maintain a government of their own, competent to discharge its obligations both domestic and foreign."

"The fundamental propositions upon which the declaration of independence was based and from which it acquires its obvious justification are the great and complementary principles: That all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, and that the right is inherent in every people to establish such government as to them shall seem best."

Referring to the time when independence should take effect, Mr. Quezon said:

"The question of time is all important. These who promise an independence to be granted when you and I and our sons and grandsons are all dead and buried, shall not live to see it realized." Can you by your pledge bind generations yet unborn?"

As to Filipino capacity for independence Mr. Quezon said:

"The argument of Filipino incapacity for self-government is hypocritical. It is the veil with which the American official-holder covers his desire to keep his place. It is the ambush behind which lurks the company which monopolizes our hemp, and the sugar interests which have already acquired in defiance of an act of congress sixty-five thousand acres of land in one tract, and are ready to get more if given time and opportunity."

Concerning the present administration policy toward the islands, Mr. Quezon said:

"President Wilson has adopted a policy whereby the question can be settled in the only practical way. After reaffirming the oft-avowed policy that independence is the goal toward which we must move as rapidly as the safety and permanent interests of the people of the Philippines would permit, the president has appointed a majority of Filipinos in the upper house, thus giving us the control of both branches of our legislature so that we may fully show our legislative capacity."

The governor general of the Philippines at the same time, in harmony with the policy of the president, is appointing Filipinos to responsible administrative positions. "If, in this test, the Philippines are successful, the speedy end of your occupation of the islands should come. If the Philippines fail there will be a halt, and, friends of colonialism may claim, at least, a temporary victory."

Mr. Quezon paid a tribute to Governor General Harrison, and in conclusion said:

"Give the Philippines their liberty and there will be nothing they will not gladly concede to you, their trade and their gratitude. America's flag may then cease to fly over our public buildings, but her influence will be our inspiration and we and our children will bless the day when Dewey entered the Bay of Manila."

BILLS IN THE LEGISLATURE

System of Taxation Condemned
—Butler Statue Again—Recess
Bills Thrown Out

BOSTON, April 16.—At least $100,000 will leave Massachusetts within a year unless the state constitution is so amended as to make a change of taxation laws possible, was the statement yesterday afternoon of Prof. C. J. Bullock of Harvard, speaking before the members of the Massachusetts state board of trade at the Hotel Vendome.

Prof. Bullock said that the situation has become very serious, and that unless something is soon done to remedy conditions which now prevail Massachusetts capital will be taken out of the state by the tens of millions. He cited one firm of lawyers that had transferred over $100,000 from this to another state during the past three months.

Prof. Bullock was preceded by the Hon. William D. T. Trefry, head of the state department of taxation, who spoke at length on the loss to the state of taxes on intangible property. He said that this kind of tax dodging results in the citizens of the state whose property is in visible evidence paying a much higher rate than they otherwise would.

"The tax laws of the present day have come to us from colonial times," said Mr. Trefry. "Proportionality was made on the parts of the constitution. This seems to be a stumbling block in preventing reform."

Salaries of Judges
The bill which raises the salaries of the judges of probate in Suffolk and Middlesex counties from $7000 to $8000 a year was made the subject of lobbying charges yesterday in the senate.

Senator John P. Brennan of Cambridge moved to postpone the bill until next Wednesday.

Senator Bever of Southbridge opposed postponement. He said that he would not object to postponement for one day, but this matter has been talked more than any other bill this season.

Senator Mark objected to the "heavy word 'lobbying' is used so indefinitely in the senate." He considered the bill one of the most important and meritorious bills of the session.

Senator Hobbs said that the bill had become almost a public scandal. "I am on the payroll of the commonwealth," he said, "and I am not going to secure votes for it," he said.

Senator Fisher of Westford said that it was an unpleasant thing to say, but the paid employees of the county of Suffolk as well as of the commonwealth had approached him to vote for their chief.

The Butler Statue
The house, by a vote of 38 to 63 refused to reject the resolve providing for a statue to the late Col. Benjamin F. Butler. The resolve was rejected by the senate, and the house ways and means committee also advocated a rejection of it.

By a vote of 12 to 7, the bill providing that mutual insurance for automobiles may be had was passed to be engrossed.

The house gave the nurses' registration bill precedence to the next general court yesterday.

It tightens up the law by requiring that applicants for registration must furnish proof that they are of good moral character and are graduated from a training school giving at least two years hospital training, and must pay a fee of $15.

Two years in the house of correction for stealing chickens is the drastic penalty imposed by the bill which was substituted in the house yesterday afternoon.

Recess Bills Thrown Out

The executive council refused yesterday to approve the bills for personal expenses amounting to $1250 incurred last year by the house recess committee on tuberculosis after several weeks' consideration. The recess committee members have already received $1000 each for their services. The council approved however, the bill for stenographer hire amounting to $150.

The nominations sent in last week, including the state board of labor and industries and of Judge Joseph J. Corbett to the land court, were confirmed. Action was deferred on an appropriation for the state board of charity to send a delegation to Memphis, Tenn., and also fixing salary for the secretary of the parole board.

After hearing opponents to the proposed new regulations on the operation of elevators and escalators, from the Elevated Employees' union, the council also deferred action upon approval of the regulations submitted by a special commission.

Private School Inspection
Strong opposition by Catholics to the proposal of the commission on immigration that the state board of education shall supervise all private and parochial schools was brought out yesterday at the hearing before the committee on education. H. V. Cunningham said the present enforcement of supervision by the local authorities is wholly satisfactory, and that there is no criticism of the work which the parochial schools are doing. The German, Italian and French parochial schools, he added, are fast being brought up to the standard of the others.

Bernard J. Rothwell, chairman of the immigration commission, emphasized the need of better facilities in this state for the education of the large number of immigrants who come here from non-English-speaking countries. Since local supervision of private parochial schools is being done, the German, Italian and French parochial schools, he added, are fast being brought up to the standard of the others.

An educational plan costing about $2,000,000 a year was outlined by Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, superintendent of schools in Newton, and a member of the immigration commission, by as-establishing part-time schools in every town with 20 or more illiterates between the ages of 14 and 17 and 18 or more between the ages of 17 and 21, the state to pay half the cost and cities and towns the other half.

W. Stanwood Field, director of the evening schools in Boston, insisted that these schools should keep open throughout the year. He denied that they are as bad as the average evening schools, saying that a great improvement has been made in them recently.

STILL IN TOWN

Seaman Denies Rumor That He Was Ordered to Tampico

Louis Bachand and his mate from the U. S. S. Nebraska, who are the guests of the former's mother, Mrs. Ovalda Bachand of 90 Allen street, are still in Lowell and they will remain until their ten-days furlough has expired which will be on April 23.

It was reported yesterday that the young men had received a telegram from their superior officers aboard the Nebraska, which is now at dry dock at Boston harbor, ordering them to return to the ship immediately for the ship was to take part in the cruise which was ordered to Tampico Bay, Mex., by President Wilson, and that the young men had left immediately for Boston, but this is not true for the boys are still in Lowell and enjoying their furlough to the fullest extent.

Seaman Bachand when seen by the writer this morning said he does not believe there is any fear of the Nebraska going south for the present, inasmuch as the ship has just returned from a three-months' trip to that region. He said the ship is now undergoing considerable alterations and it will not sail until this work is completed. The young man will be pleased to meet his many acquaintances during his sojourn in Lowell, which will last until April 23.

NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS

HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING IN NEW YORK TODAY—MAY ACT ON NOTES

NEW YORK, April 16.—Because of the importance of the special meeting of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company's shareholders at New Haven next Tuesday evening, a considerable interest attached to the meeting of the directors in this city today. Chairman Howard Elliott has received assurances from numerous stockholders that the company's dissolution agreement entered into with the department of justice will be formally agreed but there probably exists a minority faction which may offer some opposition.

It was expected that some action relative to the financing of the company's $45,000,000 notes maturing May 18 would be taken by the directors today. A syndicate of prominent bankers in this city, Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago is being formed to take care of this and other New Haven obligations.

OUR COTTON EXPORTERS

RELATIONS TO THEIR FOREIGN AGENTS SUBJECT OF SUIT IN PREMIER COURT

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The relations of American cotton exporters to their foreign agents is the subject of a suit the supreme court will be asked to review within the next few days. Informal application for the review was today lodged with the court. The case is one in which the Birge-Forbes Co. of Sherman, Tex., was held liable to its foreign agent at Bremen for $43,000 damages. This amount was the sum the agent paid to purchasers of cotton for selling cotton to them not up to grade.

The Texas firm was sued in the federal court of Texas after arbitrators selected in accordance with the rules of the Bremen cotton exchange had held the purchasers were entitled to damages. The Texas firm now complains that the arbitrary difference in grades fixed by the Bremen exchange should have been used in the arbitration. It is claimed this would have invalidated the claim of the agent for reparation from the exporters.

POSTMASTERS' BANQUET

Calvin Coolidge, president of the state senate, and James J. O'Connell, postmaster at Holyoke. The principal topic of discussion was the parcel post system. A letter of regret was read from Hon. William S. McNary.

NEW YORK, April 16.—Large offerings of the principal stocks were absorbed without seriously disturbing the level of prices in the early trading today. Steel, Amalgamated and Reading in particular were put out in round amounts. There was a good demand, however, and while the opening range was slightly lower the market soon hardened. The decline of the last few days put down quotations close to the year's low figures, a fact which encouraged bullish traders to believe a substantial upturn might be expected soon. There was an increase also in outside buying and the absorptive power of the market, soon caused the bears to back the efforts. On the rally New Haven gained a point.

Bearish sentiment predominated today despite the early indications of underlying weakness. Softness of various issues encouraged traders to put out shares more generally and to allow the market to move fairly under way some of the lowest prices of the year were recorded. The market missed the support which came from intermittent covering of the shorts. Particular heaviness appeared in Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley. Discouraging news of trade conditions and uncertainty over the Mexican crisis gave impetus to the selling movement.

An organized attack against New York Central unsettled the market and the bears found it difficult to keep the market active. Liquidation in New York Central fell to 86 5/8, the lowest figure in more than 20 years. U. P., Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific, Steel and various other shares made new low records for the year. The selling movement was checked by the news from Washington that Mexico probably would accede to this country's demands and the market rallied fractionally.

The market closed strong. The up-movement continued in a spasmodic fashion with a heavy pull in the metal shares making the most headway. Full recoveries were made in many instances.

BOSTON MARKET

TESTIFY UNDER PROTEST

Witnesses Will Tell Story at New Haven Inquiry Before Interstate Commerce Commission

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Facing probable indictment and criminal prosecution for refusal to respond to "lawful questions" of the inter-state commerce commission in the New Haven inquiry respecting the operations of the Billard company, some of the recalcitrant witnesses have indicated their willingness to testify. Joseph W. Folk, chief counsel of the commission today, received a letter from Henry Stoddard of New Haven representing two of the witnesses insisting that it was unfair for the commission to invoke the criminal statute against its clients. He felt that in all justice the points in issue ought to be threshed out in a civil proceeding. His clients, it was pointed out, did not wish to be placed under the stigma of an indictment and rather than suffer such humiliation would give their testimony under protest.

Mr. Stoddard is acting as counsel for Henry V. Whipple, president of the Algonquins' National bank of New Haven, and Edward I. Field of New Haven, said to be the president of the Billard company. Indictments against other witnesses were prepared for submission today to the grand jury.

ATHLETES AND ATHLETICS

Manager Pieper of the Lawrence club has already started to weed out his club. Yesterday he sent four players back to the bushes. In fact most of the managers around the circuit have been passing out good-byes. Wonder when Jimmy will commence?

Speaking about law enforcement Lowell hasn't got much on Brooklyn. Jake Daubert, captain and manager of the Brooklyn club, will be tried in a Brooklyn police court tomorrow morning for violating the Sunday baseball law. Daubert owns a semi-pro club which played a game last Sunday.

Tommy Daly was in the regular line-up of the White Sox yesterday. The ex-Lowell catcher played left field and notched out a timely single in three trips to the plate. If Daly keeps up this gait it will not be long before Callahan will send him in as a regular.

Freddie Yelle, Taunton's sensational lightweight, added another victory to his already

MERRIMACK RIVER PROJECT FAVORED

Committee on Harbors Recommends $1,000,000 Appropriation if the Federal Government Gives Like Sum

The committee on harbors and public lands has reported a resolve in favor of $1,000,000 appropriation for the development of the Merrimack river from Lowell to the sea. The report was made to the legislature yesterday. The appropriation is contingent upon a like amount being appropriated by congress.

The resolve providing for a state appropriation of one million dollars follows:

"Resolved, that there be allowed and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth a sum not exceeding one million dollars, to be expended by and under the direction of the board of harbor and land commissioners, for the improvement of navigation of the Merrimack river from the sea to Hump's falls at Lowell by the construction of a channel; said sum shall be available or expended until the congress of the United States shall approve a project and make an appropriation therefor to improve that part of said river from the sea to a point opposite Ward Hill, about one mile above Haverhill, so that a continuous channel will be provided throughout this part of the said river not less than 13 feet deep at mean low water and of adequate depth."

CATHOLIC NOTES

Sister Clara Leaves St. John's Hospital for Philadelphia

Sister Clara, for the past four years connected with St. John's hospital, this city, left today for Philadelphia, where she will be assigned to St. Vincent's home, 28th and Race streets, a large orphan asylum conducted by the Sisters of Charity. Among her other duties while at St. John's, Sister Clara was secretary of the hospital chapel and no visitor there ever went away without remarking upon the beauty and neatness of that cosy little place of worship.

Rev. Andrew Wynn, C. S. S. R., one of the best known members of the Redemptorist order in the east, observed the 50th anniversary of his ordination at the Mission church, Roxbury, where he has been assigned for many years. Among those who participated in the jubilee services were Rev. John Henry, C. S. S. R., of Chicago, a noted scholar of the order and author of "Self-Knowledge and Christian Perfection," a work that has attracted much attention among educators. While in the east, Fr. Henry will pay a visit to this city to meet

THIS SKIN PEELER ALL THE RAGE IN SOCIETY

There is a growing tendency among women of culture and fashion to pay more attention to hygienic means of preserving their charms. The advent of mercurized wax doubtless has been largely responsible for this. This remarkable substance produces complications so natural in appearance, so magnificently beautiful, artificial complexion is no longer desired. Instead of "doctoring" in offensive skin the skin is peeled off. The wax peels the skin so gradually, in such a perfectly painless manner, that the fresher, younger skin beneath, which is white, soft and smooth. It is not a patched-over complexion, but a brand new one. This mercurized wax has become such a rage among society folk. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings. All druggists have it, one ounce will do.

Another hygienic treatment now much in vogue is to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving in powdered exfolite in a pint witch hazel. Used as a wash lotion it "acts like magic."

HOME RULE CONFERENCE

CALL ISSUED FOR GATHERING IN BOSTON AT TREMONT TEMPLE ON APRIL 23

BOSTON, April 16.—A conference of the friends of Irish home rule in Massachusetts has been called for 2 p. m. April 23 in Gilbert hall, Tremont temple, to take practical steps toward upholding the Irish parliamentary party in the final stages of the home rule struggle.

A circular letter inviting advocates of home rule to take part in the deliberations will be sent out today from the United Irish league headquarters in Boston and through the initiative is being taken by the league it is not intended that the deliberations shall be confined to any particular organization.

Besides the branches of the United Irish league, the responsible officers of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Irish County clubs and various other bodies interested in the Irish struggle have been invited to attend or send representatives.

In the call signed by Thomas E. Fitzpatrick, national treasurer, and Michael J. Jordan, secretary of the United Irish league, is pointed out: "Massachusetts pledged at the last National convention of the United Irish league of America $25,000. Of this amount $15,000 has been contributed leaving a balance of $10,000 yet to be subscribed. We wish to make good our promise and to raise the remaining $5,000 before the final passage of the home rule bill.

"The effect of the many great reforms won by the Irish parliamentary party is that a new Ireland has been created. We are within sight of the final passage of the last great reform—home rule. The work of generations is about to be accomplished and we trust that you will interest yourself in doing your part in securing this great act of justice and that you will be present at this meeting.

"If, however, it is impossible for you to be present, you will materially assist the object of the meeting by making the purpose known to any friends who might be patriotically inclined to send a subscription to the national treasurer to aid in the raising of this sum of $5,000. All contributions of $1 or over will be acknowledged by the national treasurer.

"It is the least that we may expect that every friend of Ireland who has not already contributed will do so now. As the secretary is anxious to have as complete a list as possible of those who will be present, will you kindly notify him of your intention as soon as convenient?"

Holds were flooded and the fire and water damage combined was estimated at about $5000.

SCHOONER WAS DAMAGED

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 16.—The schooner William Thomas Moore, which was recently saved by the United States revenue cutter Seminole after lying 12 days in the breakers of Little Silver Inlet bar, South Carolina, was hauled out on drydock here yesterday. It was disclosed that there was no further damage than a loss of 15 feet of keel, a broken rudder pintle and a leak under the port bow.

The vessel is said to be the only one saved after striking the treacherous little river inlet bar breakers. It took the Seminole five days to free her.

PASSENGER RATE

Readjustment on All Inter-State R. R. Effective May 1

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Readjustment of passenger rates on all interstate railroads in the United States in conformity with the long and short haul-provision of the law, under orders of the Interstate Commerce commission, will become effective on May 1. The new tariffs filed by the roads with the commission indicate a material reduction in fares, particularly from important terminals and rate-basing points to intermediate points.

It is estimated by officials of the commission, after analysis of the tariffs that "95 per cent of the changes in fares will be reductions, and 5 per cent increases. Such advances as are made are between terminals or basing points, and in such instances the increases are made only when the traffic to intermediate points is so great as to affect seriously the revenues of the roads.

Soon after the enactment of the long and short haul provision, the commission ordered the carriers to readjust their passenger fares in conformity with that principle. At the request of the roads the commission postponed the effective date of its order until a decision in the Minnesota rate case and in the other cases involving the right of states to fix rates had been handed down by the United States supreme court. Later the supreme court upheld the authority of states to make rates, and the commission directed the roads to readjust their passenger fares by May 1.

Except in such instances as the commission may grant permission to the carriers, for well-defined reasons, to exact higher rates for the shorter than for the longer haul, the roads will be required precisely to conform to the law's provision.

To what extent compliance with the orders may affect the revenues of the roads, the commission has no means of determining accurately because that will depend largely upon the volume of traffic, which is a variable quantity.

COMMON SENSE ABOUT COLDS

With a Little Care no One Need Ever Have a Cold

No. 3

If people could just get a plentiful supply of fresh air and enough exercise to keep the blood circulating properly there would be no such thing as a cold.

But we don't get the fresh air—

And we don't take enough exercise—

We live in over-heated houses—

We ride in badly ventilated street cars—

We dress too warmly—

Our skin and the membranes of our throat and nose become over sensitive—

We are not able to resist the attacks of the cold microbes—

The first little unusual exposure to cold or dampness starts the shivers.

We begin to cough and sneeze—

The invading army of microbes is at work.

Then is the time when delay is dangerous—

La Grippe, pneumonia, rheumatism, all follow in the train of a neglected cold.

When you feel those first shivery indications of a cold go to your druggist at once.

Ask him for a box of Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets.

A few doses will knock out the cold in twenty-four hours.

La Grippe will be cured in three days.

We guarantee this—you can have your money back if it fails.

Hill's Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets are sold all over the world for fifteen years.

They are positively harmless, have no unpleasant after-effects and always do their work.

Be sure to get the genuine—the box with the red top and Mr. Hill's picture on it.

It is a standard remedy made by the W. H. Hill Chemical Company of Detroit—all druggists have it—the price is 25 cents.

MEMORY OF MAJOR BUTT BOY SLAYER SAVED

TAFI ORATOR AT DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL BRIDGE IN GEORGIA YESTERDAY

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 16.—Impressive exercises attended the dedication here yesterday of the Butt memorial bridge, erected as a tribute to the memory of the late Archibald William Butt, aide to former Presidents Taft and Roosevelt, who perished in the Titanic disaster.

Former President Taft, a delegation of Masons from the Temple-Noyes Lodge of Washington, of which Major Butt was a member, local Masons and members of the Butt Memorial association, participated in the services, which were held on the handsome new bridge spanning the canal at Fifteenth and Greene streets.

The formal dedication of the bridge was preceded by the laying of a corner stone with ritualistic ceremony by the Masons.

Former President Taft, the first speaker, spoke feelingly of his former aide as "a southerner, thorough and true."

"I like to think of him," said Mr. Taft, "as the best type of the new south, with its full flavor of the old south, strengthened by the trials of war and its consequences, melted by success in its struggles against obstacles after the war, and turned into the deepest loyalty to the flag by the Spanish-American war and a sense of a full share in the power and responsibility of the government of the country."

"Archibald went to his death in a great disaster that attracted the attention of the world. We do not know the details, but we know that women and children were rescued and he went down with the ship."

"When I heard that many were lost I knew that Archibald would never return."

"He would have selected no other death had he been given a choice. He is preserved to us in his soldierly form, in his kindly attitude of help, in the discharge of his highest duty. Thus he is in the memory of us all."

BUT HIS COMPANION IN MURDER WILL GO TO THE SCAFFOLD FOR CRIME

HARRISBURG, Penn., April 16.

Luigi Deleo, a lad scarcely 17 years old, was saved from the gallows by yesterday's recommendation of the state board of pardons that his sentence of death for a murder in Fayette county be commuted to life imprisonment, but Frank Wells, aged 18, convicted with Deleo, must die.

The cases were presented together today, it being represented that the extreme penalty should not be inflicted because of their youth. District Attorney Shelby of Fayette entered a protest, setting forth that the men were guilty of shooting down a man who interfered to prevent a highway robbery. Counsel for Deleo asserted that he did not do the shooting. Wells is to be hanged next Thursday.

GUILD BOOSTS RAYMOND

FORMER GOVERNOR SAYS HE REPRESENTS THE SCHOLAR IN POLITICS

BOSTON, April 16.—On the candidacy of Robert L. Raymond of Milton for the republican nomination for congress in the 14th district, ex-Gov. Guild said:

"I have not the slightest desire, of course, to dictate to the republicans of a congressional district other than my own in regard to their choice of a nominee. Speaking generally, however, I cannot conceive a more fortunate nomination than that of Robert L. Raymond of Milton."

"Mr. Raymond very thoroughly represents the scholar in politics. He is but 40 years of age and has, still, the fine energy of youth. He has shown his interest in one line of civic duty too frequently forgotten; he has given what every intelligent young man should give, three years of his life to service in the National Guard of Massachusetts.

"He is a first rate speaker. His ability in his profession, that of law, is evidenced by the fact that in 1909 he was offered the position of deputy commissioner of corporations of the United States. I was particularly glad to secure his services as a member of the Massachusetts commission for the blind."

"His ideas are liberal, uncontrolled and virile. I know of no man better fitted for public life, less a demagogue, or more likely to appeal to younger men, who, seeking for progress, understand that obedience to law is liberty."

TUNNELED THROUGH WALL

THIEVES ROB BOSTON STORE NEAR LAGRANGE STREET POLICE STATION

BOSTON, April 16.—By tunneling through a thick wall, burglars succeeded in entering the tailoring establishment of J. H. Linsky & Brother of 262 Tremont street, early yesterday morning or late Tuesday night. Finished suits of clothing and rolls of cloth, valued at about $500, were taken by the thieves.

They entered the unoccupied building at 261 Tremont street and dug through the dividing wall into the Linsky building. A tunnel several feet square was made and through this the men crawled into the workshop of the tailoring establishment. They then broke the glass in the door leading to the main store and carefully selected some of the best suits that were hanging in the display cases.

The Linsky building is within 500 yards of the Lagrange street police station, and is next door to the New Richmond hotel. The police were surprised that no one heard the men as they broke down the plastering and brick work.

The stolen goods were taken out through the tunnel, and the men then broke the lock on the front door of the building and walked into the street. Yesterday morning, when the manager of the Linsky store opened up his was surprised to find everything in the place thrown around.

"He then discovered the tunnel that led into the unoccupied building next door."

WILL OF EX-GOV. DRAPER

LEAVES $234,000 IN PUBLIC REQUESTS—FILED AT WORCESTER TODAY

The bequests are: To the Hopedale Unitarian parish, $20,000; $100,000 and real estate adjoining to Milford hospital; $100,000 to Massachusetts Institute of Technology; $10,000 to American Unitarian association; $10,000 to proprietors of Hopedale village cemetery.

On account of being unable to touch Sturtevant at opportune times, Groton school went down to defeat yesterday afternoon on their home grounds before the waving wands of the Lowell Textile team. Sturtevant shut out the Groton team, 3 to 0.

Textile batted in midseason style, Sturtevant himself being the real bat-

Baker and O'Brien also collected two hits apiece off Coolidge and Ashburn, the Groton pitchers. McMahon's work behind the bat for the winners was exceptionally good. The lineup and score:

edent is established by the bill whereby appointive excise boards for other cities and towns might be asked for.

At this time Boston and Fall River are the only two cities where excise boards named by the governor are in operation.

The father of the bill is Representative Beck of Chelsea.

"If the veto message says in part: 'I believe that as far as possible, every local community should be left to govern itself and to determine for itself questions of administration and public policy which affect its interest, local self-government can only be as good as the citizens make it.'

"It is remedied, when our municipalities are unfortunately suffering from poor administration, is not state control. If a city cannot determine for itself questions of administration relating to the liquor traffic, may we not also expect to have urged that the control of the police of this or some other city should be given over to the state?"

"It is but another step to state control of the schools, the health and fire departments of municipalities. The tendency of creating local excise boards under state control will lead to such a central control by the state of the granting of licenses that it would necessitate the establishment of a state excise commission or some central board to perform this work. The wisdom or unwisdom of such a plan is not here at issue."

A large number of members of the Lowell Nest of Owls attended the performance at the Owl theatre last evening.

MAYOR MUST ACT

Lawrence Pastors Continue Warfare Against Sunday Shows

LAWRENCE, April 16.—At a meeting of the committee on Sabbath observance of the Ministerial association Tuesday afternoon it was unanimously decided to continue the warfare against the Sunday shows until they are made clean and wholesome or are abolished altogether. They have not divulged their future plans; but they declare that they will exhaust every means within their power to accomplish this purpose.

"They say: 'Our slogan is: 'Clean moral shows on Sunday in Lawrence, or none.' We will continue the action along that line until the reform is effected, whether it takes a week or month, a year or longer.

FOR LIGHTING VEHICLES

NEW ACT PASSED THIS MONTH PROVIDES FOR LIGHTING VEHICLES AT NIGHT

The majority of those who own motor or horse-drawn vehicles are probably not aware that the most stringent act yet passed by the Massachusetts legislature relative to the lighting of vehicles at night went into effect yesterday.

The new act now states distinctly that an hour after sundown must see every auto or carriage lighted with a lamp or lamps which can be plainly seen from the rear as well as the front and that vehicles must be thusly equipped until one hour before sunrise. The act reads as follows:

An Act Relative to Vehicles Carrying Lights at Night on Public Highways and Bridges.

Be it enacted as follows:

Section one of chapter five hundred and seventy-eight of the acts of the year nineteen hundred and eleven is hereby amended by striking out the words "or to any highway where any lighted street lamp is displayed at a distance of five hundred feet apart or less," in the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth lines,—so as to read as follows:

Section 1. Every vehicle on wheels, whether stationary or in motion, on any public highway or bridge, shall have attached to it a light or lights which shall be so displayed as to be visible from the front and the rear during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise; provided, however, that this act shall not apply to any vehicle which is designed to be propelled by hand, or to any vehicle designed for the transportation, as its principal freight, of hay or straw while loaded with such freight. (Approved March 16, 1914.)

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

An invitation has been extended by the Past Commanders association of Massachusetts division, Sons of Veterans, to the department officers, Ladies of the G. A. R. and also all circles of the department, to attend a reception in Faneuil hall, Boston, on April 23 at 8 o'clock in honor of Frank J. Donahue, division commander of Sons of Veterans.

The Betsy Ross circle, No. 24, Ladies of the G. A. R., will hold its usual supper and entertainment at the regular meeting on the night of April 21.

Spanish War Veterans
The members of General Adelbert Ames camp, Spanish War Veterans, are already making preparations for the celebration of Memorial day and at a meeting last evening it was voted to attend the morning services in the First Universal church on a body.

The members will take part in the parade and are also planning to decorate the graves in the different cemeteries. A large delegation from the local camp will attend the convention in Haverhill April 18, 19 and 20.

Looks Like a Fixture—Burke Has Second "Cinched"—No Game Today—Other Dope

The storm today put a crimp in the exhibition game scheduled for the Nashua ball park with the semi-pro team of that city and denied Manager Gray the opportunity to watch his men in action against an opponent.

DEE ON DECK

"Shorty" Arrived Last Night—Will Probably Play Third Base

Well, "Shorty" Dee has at last put in an appearance. "Shorty" arrived last night while the candidates for this year's Lowell club were all at the Opera House, and just to show that he wasn't at all afflicted with a bashful disposition, the Lynn boy marched up to the ticket office and demanded a seat in the boxes where sat his teammates.

Manager Gray, in spite of his oft-

"SHORTY" DEE
Lowell Twirler Who Arrived Last Night

repeated assertions that he knew Dee would eventually arrive, was mighty glad to see his star infielder leave his sight. He was given a great reception when he entered the box.

Dee will probably be played at the hot corner again this year if a likely looking shortstop is picked up. However, the stocky infielder can be worked in at shortstop without any difficulty if another third baseman of calibre should be discovered. The next few days will show Jimmy Gray whether Spraw, Carr, Freyer or Garvey have the goods for a steady berth in the Lowell infield.

Yesterday's cold weather also interfered greatly with the practice of the Lowell candidates. During the morning lively fielding and batting was the order but in the afternoon the gas heater in the dressing room under the grandstand was the most popular resort for players and manager alike. It was so cold at the park that the practice game with the high school team was called off. Although hard work was denied the players on account of the chill breeze in the afternoon an hour's bunting practice was gone through over in the far right hand corner of the field. It was the theory of Gray that the fence would protect the players from the wind but we don't think much of James as a theorist. There was no place in the park where the wind didn't sing a song.

Lohman Very Popular

In the dressing room, seated around the gas heater, the big Texan, Lohman, entertained players, manager, owner and scribe with quaint and amusing stories of ball clubs on which he had played.

When Temple was brought in by Manager Gray and introduced around, Lohman, in an aside, wanted to know what position he played. "Pitcher," said somebody. "Till he dogged," swore the Texan. "If everybody I see ain't a pitcher, The faster they come the bigger they get. (Temple is over six feet in height). I'm going to pull this here toe plate off and go out for second base."

Stimpson's Arrival Will Tell Tale

Stimpson, the outfielder formerly with the Michigan State league, was turned over to Lowell by the St. Louis Americans yesterday. The St. Louis team had an option on his services but will not be able to use him this season. The addition of Stimpson to the Lowell line-up cannot be over-rated.

Outfield Situation

In the outfield we now have four men about whom positive knowledge has been gained. There's Rube DeGroff, who hasn't signed as yet but who is liable to be along any day. Potteiger, the Dutchman, who has shown such excellent form here this week, Mathewson and now Stimpson.

It's a cinch someone must go and who that someone is, still will be a hard question for Manager Gray to decide. This statement is made under the assumption that Rube DeGroff reports before the opening of the season. With four outer gardeners of their calibre to choose three men from it will be a difficult task.

One Infield Berth Open

Of course none of this dope is official. It is simply the way in which the writer sizes up the situation. Kelley looks to be a fixture on first base. He handles himself like a veteran on the first cushion and the way in which he steps into the ball when at bat shows that he is a hitter. His style in every particular is O. K.

Burke at second base is a slouch. You couldn't displace him with a derrier. He knows baseball from every angle, although only a youngster. In fact any player who has spent a couple of seasons with Louisville and Wichita must needs know baseball.

With "Shorty" Dee at third base the shortstop position is the only place where a big leaguer could slip in. Gray, and the writer as well swear by Dee at the hot corner. He is not the spectacular player that many clubs possess, but his work throughout the season is far above the average minor league third sacker and he is a great little man to have on a ball club.

Wacob a Wonder

Wacob looked great yesterday. Although he had been in the train for nearly a week, coming on here from California, the big catcher got right into a uniform and took the fast ones sent at him by the various pitchers with an easy grace that stamped him at once as a wonderful backstop.

The ex-Wichita player came up to the top of the Sun building yesterday morning to look over the city where he will spend the present season. He's known as Wacob and signs that way. However, regardless of his name, the husky Californian is some catcher.

Temple a Hitter

Pitcher Temple, the player received by the Lowell club from Pittsfield in exchange for Capt. Harry Aubrey of last year's team, is a big fellow and some heavier from all accounts. He is also a slugger of the first water and broke up several games in the Eastern association last season with home run clouts. Gray may be able to work him in as a pinch hitter if he is retained on the roster as a regular.

old team that is looking for games and say they will play for anything from a nickel brick up. Send all challenges to the manager's house, 297 Dutton street, or through this paper.

The Diamond Spring club of Lawrence claiming to be one of the strongest semi-professional teams in the state would like one or two games for April 20 and 25th with any fast team of this city, South Ends, Grantville, or Westford preferred. Please reply to Charles Hauser, 306 High street, Lawrence, Mass. Here's a chance for good games on the above dates.

The Bunting Baseball team will start practice Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds and want all the players to report as they have several hard games in view with the fastest teams in the state. Last year they won seventeen and lost seven games and hope to better their record this year. Their home grounds are the new Bunting grounds and some fast games are assured the fans.

The Royal R. team of this city would like to play some 17-year-old club on April 25th, the Collinsville, St. Columbia and the Busters preferred. Send challenges to this paper or telephone 2201-M for dates.

Come on, you 15-year-old boys, and accept the challenge that the Belvidere A. C. hurls at you. They claim that the Riversides and the Concordes will not play them and would be glad to get one of the above mentioned teams on the diamond and show them up. Their manager is H. Matthews, 263 Fayette street.

Ah, this looks like it. The Migdets, a rival team, says that the Belvideres will be easy game for them if they can get a game with them. They would also like to play the Altar Boys of the immaculate Conception church. This will either make the Belvidere team play the Migdets or admit they were only bluffing.

The Cubs of Belvidere are not bashful in saying they are the real champions of Belvidere and anyone doubting their word will send challenges to Donald MacFadyen, 153 Andover street.

HELD ANNUAL BANQUET

Builders' Exchange Dines at Richardson Hotel—Cong. Rogers and Mayor Murphy Speak

It was indeed a happy lot that gathered at the Richardson hotel banquet last night, the occasion being the 25th anniversary of the founding of the Builders' exchange, an organization composed of popular contractors of this city. The affair as usual consisted of a banquet followed by speeches, the speakers being Congressman John Jacob Rogers and Mayor D. J. Murphy. The congressman delighted his listeners with an eloquent lecture of the "Panama Tolls Question," while the chief magistrate of the city spoke on the growth of Lowell.

Patrick O'Hearn, who a few hours before had been elected president of the exchange, as it was announced in his rights to the podium, presided over the festivities and in opening he spoke briefly on the work of the exchange during the past year and also referred to the big celebration held last year in connection with the silver jubilee of the exchange. He also spoke a kind word in memory of one who was loved and admired by its members, the late Patrick Conlon, former president of the organization, and he asked that all present rise as a mark of respect to the memory of Patrick Conlon and all complied with the suggestion.

The president then thanked his fellow members for the honor bestowed upon him at the afternoon meeting by electing him president of such an important organization and he called upon Secretary Alvah H. Weaver for the reading of his annual report for the benefit of those who were not present in the afternoon.

Mayor Murphy
Mayor Murphy was the first speaker and his talk was principally on the growth of the city. He referred to many ancient land marks and named the men more or less prominent who had been instrumental in the progress achieved. He said Lowell was always a recognized leader in mercantile and industrial affairs. He pointed out the fact that the first canal and that Lowell was also the first city to send textiles to the entire world. The mayor concluded by saying we were not doing our full duty to the people who are coming in by the thousands, for if we did it would not be possible for operatives in a city only a few miles distant to fly a banner bearing the inscription "No God, No Master." He said we should always be willing to assume the responsibility which is ours when we receive these people from Europe and other countries.

Congressman Rogers
Congressman Rogers was then introduced and he was given a hearty greeting. The congressman was very interesting in his remarks which were in relation with the Panama canal act which we have just been considering, namely, the one which exempts our American coastwise trade from the payment of tolls. He gave no reason for his changed point of view since his speech as a candidate a year and one-half ago, but simply said that "we ought to reverse our action without raising the question whether we were right or wrong." I have no desire to criticize the president, in respect for which I yield to no one, but I submit that his message, which advanced no original argument in support of the vote-fair, was necessarily far from persuasive. In response to the president's wish a bill known as the Sims bill was introduced into the house only 16 lines long, baldly repeating the exemption section of the Panama canal act. Accompanying the bill there was introduced into the house and adopted a special rule limiting debate on the Sims repeal law to 20 hours and, still more important, forbidding the offering of a single amendment of any kind to the measure. This last provision has met with a storm of criticism which I believe to be fully deserved. There were many amendments which could have been offered to improve the Sims bill, and yet not even a single one was permitted. For example, a preamble to the repeal act setting forth in terms that the United States by passing the repeal law was not prejudging the treaty against herself, but left that question to later and final decision, would have undoubtedly resulted in the support of many men who, as it was, felt it their duty to vote against the bill. Nor was there an opportunity to insert a provision for the submission of the question to a court of arbitration, which would have gained the approval of many more. Under the special rule, commonly referred to as the "razor rule," every member had to "take it or leave it" in the exact form in which it was drawn by Mr. Sims. I am glad to see that my democratic colleague, Congressman Delbridge of Cambridge, introduced into the house last Friday an amendment to the rules of the house requiring a three-fourths vote for any special rule which does not permit the free offering of amendments to the measure concerned. I hope that some such reform can be achieved, for it unquestionably tends toward a freer and fairer consideration of great public questions.

And now we come to the consideration of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which Great Britain claims prevents the United States from validly exempting from tolls its coastwise vessels in the Panama canal. Before taking up the treaty in detail I want to call to your attention the inherent improbability that the United States, which was destined to spend four hundred millions upon the canal, would have knowingly obligated itself to a treaty which prevented it from dealing as it should see fit with its own vessels. Of course if the treaty undoubtedly excludes the United States from such action, we must abide by its terms; but there can be no doubt, I say, that such a construction is at least presumptively incorrect and is violative of common sense and rough justice. Here is another point to consider—conclusive either, but very suggestive. When the treaty was before the senate for confirmation in 1901 an amendment was offered by Senator Burd of California specifically giving the United States the right to exempt its coastwise vessels. That amendment was defeated, 43 to 27. About 15 members of the senate at that time, including Senator Burd himself, Senator

Lodge and Senator Beveridge have recently stated in writing that the reason why that amendment was voted down was because the senators felt confident that such a right was already fixed in the United States and that therefore the amendment was wholly unnecessary.

Article III of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty reads in part as follows: "The United States adopts the following rules: 1. The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations observing these rules on terms of entire equality."

Upon these few lines hang all the law and the gospel of those who contend that the exemption of coastwise vessels violates the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. At first glance these words do perhaps seem to support such a position.

But let us examine them a little more carefully. The United States adopts the rule requiring equality. Would it mean itself to be included in the rule thus adopted? Mrs. Jack Gardner throws open Fenway court to the public on certain days in the year, posting at the entrance the regulations upon which the public may enter. Would it be seriously contended that Mrs. Gardner herself, her family or her servants were included in the enforcement of those rules? Is not the question of the same in the treaty? As Mr. Richard Olney has said, the United States was laying down the terms which her customers were bound to observe; she did not regard herself as one of her own customers. She "adopts these rules."

Further, the language is that the canal shall be free and open, not to the vessels of all nations, but "the vessels of all nations observing these rules," a very different thing. Clearly two classes of nations were contemplated, one of rule-observers and the other, if I may coin the word, of rule-non-observers. If it was thus recognized that there were to be nations which were not to be bound by the rules, the United States would clearly be the most natural nation to come within this class.

Again, the terms of equality are to apply to vessels not only of commerce, but also to the vessels of war. If one is included the other is, and vice versa. They are indissolubly linked together. Yet Great Britain has virtually admitted that vessels of war are not included in these rules, saying in an official note, "Now that the United States has become the practical sovereign of the canal, his majesty's government does not question its title to exempt belligerent rights for its protection."

Rule I, which I have quoted above, is one of six rules which the United States "adopts." The other five provide that the canal shall never be blockaded; that the warships of a belligerent shall not revictual or take stores in the canal; that the transit of warships shall be effected with the least possible delay; that no belligerent shall embark or disembark troops or munitions of war; that warships of a belligerent shall not remain within three marine miles of the canal more than 24 hours; and that the warships of one belligerent shall not pursue that of another for 24 hours. Does any sane man in this country contend that these rules include the warships of the United States? Certainly the British foreign office does not. And yet these five rules are exactly similar in text and construction with rule I. Surely there can be no good reason for the conclusion that the United States is included in Rule I, although it is admittedly not included in Rules II, III, IV, V, VI.

I could adduce all pointing in the same direction, but I cannot take the time this evening to do so. Just one more consideration before I close. The contention that the United States is included in this branch of the subject. The foregoing argument, it will be observed, is broad enough to lead to the conclusion that the United States can exempt not only its own coastwise vessels but its foreign flag vessels as well. So far as its coastwise trade is concerned there is no additional argument of very great weight. Under our laws, in existence for many years, the coastwise trade of the United States can be law- fully carried only by American vessels; no foreign vessel can engage therein. Rule I of the treaty calls for equality of treatment; but British vessels cannot engage in American coastwise trade at all, and hence there is inequality of treatment when exemption was accorded American coastwise vessels. It was simply a domestic matter with which Great Britain had nothing at all to do. Can we test under our treaty of Great Britain this by the practice of 1815 with her. That treaty provided, "No higher or other duties or charges shall be imposed in the ports of any of the British Majesty's territories in Europe on the vessels of the United States than shall be payable in the same ports on British vessels." Yet British harbor, wharf and tonnage rates have for a century been two to six times as heavy upon American vessels as those charged her own coastwise vessels. Does it lie in the mouth of Great Britain to object to this? There is indeed some question as to whether in July, 1912, note of protest of Great Britain there was even an intention of making such protest so far as coastwise trade went. That note says: "The trade could be so regulated as to make it certain that only bona fide coastwise traffic which is reserved for U. S. vessels, would be benefited. It may be that no objection could be taken. This language is that of 'diplomatic indirection,' but it surely is certainly not conclusive. The fact that Great Britain thought that so far as coastwise trade was concerned she had not a leg to stand upon, referring again for a moment to the treaty of 1815, there is a provision that British vessels in American ports shall not be required to pay duties as high as those paid by those paid in the same ports by American vessels. Yet the United States supreme court in 1904 held that laws exempting coastwise vessels of the United States from the payment of pilotage charges violated the treaty of 1815 and Great Britain never objected to that decision. The Panama tolls question is absolutely on all fours with the analogies which we have just been considering. I should like to take the time to refer to other analogies in treaties with respect to the foregoing, but I must hasten on.

I am entirely clear in my own mind for the above reasons and others that the United States has the absolute and undoubted right to exempt its coastwise vessels from tolls in the canal, and it seems to me that the argument is equally strong. Perhaps as cogent an illustration as can be given of the dangers of the opposite view was furnished by a brief comment in the senate in March last when Senator Owen, a member of the committee on inter-oceanic canals, of the senate, author of the repeal bill in the senate, and the spokesman of the administration, was making a long speech, Senator Chamberlain interrupted him:

"Does a senator think that we are compelled, under the terms of the treaty he has just read, (Rule I) to admit the war vessels of Japan and United States on the same terms?"

Mr. Owen—"I do."
The passage of the repeal act in its present form will be taken as an official admission and declaration by the United States that its position in 1912 was violative of international law and ethics, but that hereafter we "promise to be good and stick to the opposite contention, that we must face the fact that if we pass the bill we shall be passing the house we have resolved the question against ourselves for all time to come. In other words, we shall have proclaimed to the world that it involves the most enormous consequences both in time of war and in time of peace.

I believe that the legislative branch of the government should strain every nerve to support the opposite contention in all questions involving our foreign policy and relations. But I do not believe that any man even in such a case should surrender his carefully formed and conscientious opinions when not a single reason has been adduced for his so doing. The contention that the United States is included in this branch of the subject. Lodge and Senator Beveridge have recently stated in writing that the reason why that amendment was voted down was because the senators felt confident that such a right was already fixed in the United States and that therefore the amendment was wholly unnecessary.

TO LET
Article III of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty reads in part as follows: "The United States adopts the following rules: 1. The canal shall be free and open to the vessels of commerce and of war of all nations observing these rules on terms of entire equality."

TO LET
Upon these few lines hang all the law and the gospel of those who contend that the exemption of coastwise vessels violates the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. At first glance these words do perhaps seem to support such a position.

TO LET
But let us examine them a little more carefully. The United States adopts the rule requiring equality. Would it mean itself to be included in the rule thus adopted? Mrs. Jack Gardner throws open Fenway court to the public on certain days in the year, posting at the entrance the regulations upon which the public may enter. Would it be seriously contended that Mrs. Gardner herself, her family or her servants were included in the enforcement of those rules? Is not the question of the same in the treaty? As Mr. Richard Olney has said, the United States was laying down the terms which her customers were bound to observe; she did not regard herself as one of her own customers. She "adopts these rules."

TO LET
Further, the language is that the canal shall be free and open, not to the vessels of all nations, but "the vessels of all nations observing these rules," a very different thing. Clearly two classes of nations were contemplated, one of rule-observers and the other, if I may coin the word, of rule-non-observers. If it was thus recognized that there were to be nations which were not to be bound by the rules, the United States would clearly be the most natural nation to come within this class.

TO LET
Again, the terms of equality are to apply to vessels not only of commerce, but also to the vessels of war. If one is included the other is, and vice versa. They are indissolubly linked together. Yet Great Britain has virtually admitted that vessels of war are not included in these rules, saying in an official note, "Now that the United States has become the practical sovereign of the canal, his majesty's government does not question its title to exempt belligerent rights for its protection."

TO LET
Rule I, which I have quoted above, is one of six rules which the United States "adopts." The other five provide that the canal shall never be blockaded; that the warships of a belligerent shall not revictual or take stores in the canal; that the transit of warships shall be effected with the least possible delay; that no belligerent shall embark or disembark troops or munitions of war; that warships of a belligerent shall not remain within three marine miles of the canal more than 24 hours; and that the warships of one belligerent shall not pursue that of another for 24 hours. Does any sane man in this country contend that these rules include the warships of the United States? Certainly the British foreign office does not. And yet these five rules are exactly similar in text and construction with rule I. Surely there can be no good reason for the conclusion that the United States is included in Rule I, although it is admittedly not included in Rules II, III, IV, V, VI.

TO LET
I could adduce all pointing in the same direction, but I cannot take the time this evening to do so. Just one more consideration before I close. The contention that the United States is included in this branch of the subject. The foregoing argument, it will be observed, is broad enough to lead to the conclusion that the United States can exempt not only its own coastwise vessels but its foreign flag vessels as well. So far as its coastwise trade is concerned there is no additional argument of very great weight. Under our laws, in existence for many years, the coastwise trade of the United States can be law-
